Nevada WIOA Unified State Plan Available for Public Comment

By Brad Deeds

Adult Education Director | State High School Equivalency Administrator

2016 will be a great year for adult students in the Silver State. In a historic revamp of the workforce development system, the State of Nevada is poised to submit its Unified State Plan under the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) on March 3, 2016. The U.S. Departments of Labor and Education as well as Health & Human Services will then be responsible to review and comment upon the Nevada plan prior to its anticipated approval. For the past year, representatives from the Nevada Department of Education (NDE), Department of Employment, Training & Rehabilitation (DETR), the Division of Welfare & Supportive Services (DWSS), as well as the local workforce development boards (NevadaWorks and Workforce Connections), have been working hard to align the workforce investment, education, social service and economic development systems, as required under WIOA.

BRACE YOURSELVES

Some key changes to Title II, also known as the Adult Education and Family Literacy Act (AEFLA):

- Strengthens alignment of adult education with postsecondary and workforce activities
- Strengthens career pathways and integrated education and training
- Links English Literacy/Civics with integrated education and training
- Requires specific state leadership activities
  - Alignment of services with the workforce system
  - Quality professional development
  - Technical assistance to local providers
  - Monitoring and evaluation of local providers
- Requires that the local adult education plans be reviewed by the local workforce board to ensure alignment.

The draft of the Nevada plan is available for public review and comment at:

Paulina's Secret to Success-Practice!

by Hal Hibdon

Paulina came to the U.S. in 2007 from Mexico. She and her family settled in Elko, and Paulina started taking English as a Second Language classes at Great Basin College (GBC).

Paulina started working and eventually started her own business. When her daughter, Elizabeth, started school, Paulina saw an opportunity to continue her education. Later, Paulina found herself a single mom—a situation that happens all too often to too many people. As Paulina evaluated her situation, she realized she needed to finish her education. She closed her business and enrolled full time at GBC. She is taking a 10-credit course load each semester with a goal of becoming an R.N. She received her citizenship in 2010, and her CNA license in 2011. She plans on renewing her CNA license in 2016.

Paulina and her proud daughter, Elizabeth, celebrate her success.

Paulina's advice to our current students is to work on vocabulary and grammar. She also advises students to follow Teacher Hal's advice---Practice! Practice! Practice!

Opportunity Favors the Prepared TMCC Student

By Nora Fritch, ELL Instructor

Jeffrey Cawile is an English Language Learner (ELL) favorite. He began the program at Truckee Meadows Community College (TMCC) in April, 2014, at the Advanced 2 level with the goal of improving his English to obtain a job in his specialty which is computer programming. Jeffrey managed to balance his work at a retail business, lead a dance troupe, and have near-perfect attendance in English class.

Once he arrived at the Advanced 3 class, I could see that Jeffrey had potential. He was in my class for three sessions and demonstrated a positive attitude throughout. He worked well with others and learned from his mistakes. However, he never forgot why he was in our class and was always ready for improvement.

When given the opportunity to attend an interview workshop at the Dandini campus, Jeffrey attended without hesitation. He returned to tell the class that his interview skills were not up to par, and he gained a lot of helpful tips to improve himself during the interview process.

One week later, Jeffrey went to a job interview for a managerial programming position and brought with him the English and interview skills he had learned at TMCC. He was offered a high-paying position with a local company. Jeffrey is one of many success stories from our Adult Basic Education program, and students like him make me proud to be a part of this program!

Meet Jill Hersha With Community Adult Learning In Libraries Program

Jill Hersha was recently hired as the Literacy Services Manager with the Community Adult Learning in Libraries (CALL) program with the Las Vegas Clark County Library District.

"I am excited to have joined the Las Vegas Clark County Library District and have the privilege of managing the Community Adult Learning in Libraries program (CALL)," said Hersha.

"The CALL program offers free literacy classes for adult learners and English Language Learners (ELL). My vision for the CALL program is to continue providing excellent adult literacy programming while we expand our services to meet the needs of residents in the Las Vegas Valley. This expansion includes High School Equivalency (formerly known as the GED) preparation, vocational and transitional services and building community partnerships to ensure our students are on a career pathway resulting in long term employment and workplace success," she said.

Prior to this position, Ms. Hersha worked for the Clark County School District in the Guidance and Counseling Services department as well as working as a counselor at other schools in the district. She has a Master of Science from the University of Phoenix in Educational Leadership and Supervision and one in Educational Counseling. She received her Bachelors of Education from John Brown University.

Nevada WIOA Unified State Plan Available for Public Comment

By Brad Deeds

Adult Education Director | State High School Equivalency Administrator

2016 will be a great year for adult students in the Silver State. In a historic revamp of the workforce development system, the State of Nevada is poised to submit its Unified State Plan under the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) on March 3, 2016. The U.S. Departments of Labor and Education as well as Health & Human Services will then be responsible to review and comment upon the Nevada plan prior to its anticipated approval. For the past year, representatives from the Nevada Department of Education (NDE), Department of Employment, Training & Rehabilitation (DETR), the Division of Welfare & Supportive Services (DWSS), as well as the local workforce development boards (NevadaWorks and Workforce Connections), have been working hard to align the workforce investment, education, social service and economic development systems, as required under WIOA.

BRACE YOURSELVES

Some key changes to Title II, also known as the Adult Education and Family Literacy Act (AEFLA):

- Strengthens alignment of adult education with postsecondary and workforce activities
- Strengthens career pathways and integrated education and training
- Links English Literacy/Civics with integrated education and training
- Requires specific state leadership activities
  - Alignment of services with the workforce system
  - Quality professional development
  - Technical assistance to local providers
  - Monitoring and evaluation of local providers
- Requires that the local adult education plans be reviewed by the local workforce board to ensure alignment.

The draft of the Nevada plan is available for public review and comment at:

Paulina's Secret to Success-Practice!

by Hal Hibdon

Paulina came to the U.S. in 2007 from Mexico. She and her family settled in Elko, and Paulina started taking English as a Second Language classes at Great Basin College (GBC).

Paulina started working and eventually started her own business. When her daughter, Elizabeth, started school, Paulina saw an opportunity to continue her education. Later, Paulina found herself a single mom—a situation that happens all too often to too many people. As Paulina evaluated her situation, she realized she needed to finish her education. She closed her business and enrolled full time at GBC. She is taking a 10-credit course load each semester with a goal of becoming an R.N. She received her citizenship in 2010, and her CNA license in 2011. She plans on renewing her CNA license in 2016.

Paulina and her proud daughter, Elizabeth, celebrate her success.

Paulina's advice to our current students is to work on vocabulary and grammar. She also advises students to follow Teacher Hal's advice---Practice! Practice! Practice!

Opportunity Favors the Prepared TMCC Student

By Nora Fritch, ELL Instructor

Jeffrey Cawile is an English Language Learner (ELL) favorite. He began the program at Truckee Meadows Community College (TMCC) in April, 2014, at the Advanced 2 level with the goal of improving his English to obtain a job in his specialty which is computer programming. Jeffrey managed to balance his work at a retail business, lead a dance troupe, and have near-perfect attendance in English class.

Once he arrived at the Advanced 3 class, I could see that Jeffrey had potential. He was in my class for three sessions and demonstrated a positive attitude throughout. He worked well with others and learned from his mistakes. However, he never forgot why he was in our class and was always ready for improvement.

When given the opportunity to attend an interview workshop at the Dandini campus, Jeffrey attended without hesitation. He returned to tell the class that his interview skills were not up to par, and he gained a lot of helpful tips to improve himself during the interview process.

One week later, Jeffrey went to a job interview for a managerial programming position and brought with him the English and interview skills he had learned at TMCC. He was offered a high-paying position with a local company. Jeffrey is one of many success stories from our Adult Basic Education program, and students like him make me proud to be a part of this program!

Meet Jill Hersha With Community Adult Learning In Libraries Program

Jill Hersha was recently hired as the Literacy Services Manager with the Community Adult Learning in Libraries (CALL) program with the Las Vegas Clark County Library District.

"I am excited to have joined the Las Vegas Clark County Library District and have the privilege of managing the Community Adult Learning in Libraries program (CALL)," said Hersha.

"The CALL program offers free literacy classes for adult learners and English Language Learners (ELL). My vision for the CALL program is to continue providing excellent adult literacy programming while we expand our services to meet the needs of residents in the Las Vegas Valley. This expansion includes High School Equivalency (formerly known as the GED) preparation, vocational and transitional services and building community partnerships to ensure our students are on a career pathway resulting in long term employment and workplace success," she said.

Prior to this position, Ms. Hersha worked for the Clark County School District in the Guidance and Counseling Services department as well as working as a counselor at other schools in the district. She has a Master of Science from the University of Phoenix in Educational Leadership and Supervision and one in Educational Counseling. She received her Bachelors of Education from John Brown University.
