ANDREW DICE CLAY

STAND-UP COMEDIAN EXTENDS RESIDENCY AT HARD ROCK.

Hard Rock Hotel & Casino Las Vegas' award-winning venue, Vinyl, is extending legendary comedian Andrew Dice Clay's one-of-a-kind residency through March. Guests will continue to indulge in endless nights of debauchery by one of the most controversial standup comics in the industry with the addition of 15 shows.

"If you have not seen my show at Hard Rock Hotel, you haven't seen comedy in Vegas," says Clay. "I don't hold anything back."

Clay's stomach-splitting and scandalous comedy has fueled his career to unprecedented heights. For more than 35 years, Clay has sold out hundreds of arenas, totaling more than 12 million tickets to date, including two consecutive nights at Madison Square Garden. He has starred in numerous feature films including "The Adventures of Ford Fairlane," appeared in several HBO specials, and released best selling DVDs and a string of multi-gold and platinum-selling CDs.

Over the last few years, Clay has experienced resurgence. He had a critically acclaimed recurring role on the final season of HBO's "Entourage," and on Dec. 31, 2012, he won rave reviews for his Showtime special "INDESTRUCTIBLE," his first in 17 years. In July 2013, Clay co-starred alongside Cate Blanchett and Alec Baldwin in Woody Allen's feature "Blue Jasmine." And to this day, Clay remains the only performer banned for life from MTV.

SPRING LAS VEGAS RESTAURANT WEEK

CULINARY EVENT RAISES FUNDING FOR SOUTHERN NEVADA FOOD BANK.

Locals and tourists will once again have the opportunity to help out by dining at some of Las Vegas' best restaurants while supporting Three Square Food Bank during Spring Las Vegas Restaurant Week, March 7-14.

Since its inception in 2007, Las Vegas Restaurant Week has raised more than $786,000 for Three Square, helping to provide more than 2.3 million meals to those in need in Southern Nevada.

A variety of restaurants at all Station Casinos' properties will join restaurants on the Strip and throughout the Las Vegas Valley in participating.

"We have been long time supporters of Three Square since its inception and we're very excited to participate in Restaurant Week," said Station Casinos spokesperson, Lori Nelson. "Our Culinary team is already busy planning special menus to help make this Restaurant Week the best one yet."

Diners can visit any participating restaurant during the specified dates and enjoy a multi-course, prix fixe menu specially created for Las Vegas Restaurant Week. Each restaurant will create their own delicious menu offering at price points ranging from $20.14 to $50.14, with a fixed portion of the proceeds benefiting Three Square and the fight against hunger in Southern Nevada. Some restaurants that have participated in the past include: Andre's Restaurant and Lounge, Bagatelle, Don Vito's, LAVO Italian Restaurant, Mesa Grill, Primarily Prime Rib, Silverado Steakhouse, Table 34, and TAO Asian Bistro.

Starting in late February, guests may visit helpoutdineoutlv.org for an updated list of participants and menu details. The easy-to-navigate, mobile-friendly site allows diners to search by type of cuisine, restaurant location, or donation amount.

Three Square currently provides more than 30 million pounds of food and grocery product—the equivalent of over 25 million meals per year—to nearly 600 Program Partners including non-profit and faith-based organizations, schools, and feeding sites throughout Southern Nevada.

MINDBENDER MANSION

INTERACTIVE EXHIBIT STRAINS BRAINS AT LAS VEGAS MUSEUM.

Visitors to the DISCOVERY Children's Museum in Las Vegas have a chance to enter the wonderfully puzzling world of Mindbender Mansion—an eclectic traveling exhibit full of puzzles, brainteasers, and interactive challenges guaranteed to test the brain power and problem solving skills of even the most experienced puzzlers. Through April 27, adults and children alike can exercise their minds as they try to master each of the 40 individual brainteasers and the five group activities.

Visitors to Mindbender Mansion are greeted by the wacky Mr. E., master brainteaser and puzzler extraordinaire, and current curator of the Mindbender Society. Mr. E explains the mysteries of Mindbender Mansion and how to become a member of the eccentric Mindbender Society by gathering hidden clues and secret passwords. The clues can only be found by solving key puzzles found in select areas.

Throughout the exhibit, visitors find a combination of tabletop brainteasers they can solve on their own and larger group challenges that require assistance from their fellow mansion guests.

Upon completing each of the select brainteasers and group challenges, visitors will have gathered the necessary clues and secret passwords to become a member of the Mindbender Society and add their portrait to the wall of fame.

GROUP CHALLENGES INCLUDE:

FEEDING FRENZY

Kitchen mayhem is guaranteed in a race to beat the clock by filling T.V. dinner trays on a fast moving conveyer belt.

FLYING MACHINE

Solid teamwork is a must in order to maneuver a mechanical "flying machine" around a large game board hitting six targets in sequence before the time is up.

SPELLING FEVER

Hopscotch meets Scrabble in this race to spell correct words within a limited amount of time by hopping on letter squares that light up.

MOVE AND MATCH

Dinnertime was never this much fun! Slide your dining room chairs on wheels into a correct pattern before the clock runs out.

AMAZING MAZE

In this version of the classic steel ball labyrinth game, visitors must work together to tilt a table in different directions, guiding a ball into six holes as quickly as possible.

A BOUTIQUE RESORT IN DOWNTOWN RENO

CHARMING RIVERSIDE DESTINATION OFFERS UNPARALLELED EXPERIENCE.

BY JANET GEARY

When my husband and I had the opportunity recently to stay at the Siena Hotel Spa Casino in Reno, I was very intrigued. Even though we live a short 60 miles away, I looked forward to a relaxing weekend in a boutique resort. At first, I wasn't sure what to expect, as the concept of a boutique resort was new to me, but our visit was a very pleasant surprise.

The location of the Siena is unique, as it sits right next to the Truckee River and all of the north-facing rooms have a beautiful view of the river and the downtown Reno skyline. Our room was replete with premium soaps and linens, and upon request, even feather pillows.

The hotel only has 214 rooms, so there were really no crowds anywhere, which meant great reservation times for the Whitewater Restaurant and Sushi Saga, and easy scheduling for the spa.

The real highlight of our visit, however, was the service. Everywhere we went, the staff went above and beyond to make us comfortable. We had dinner in the Rotunda Bar one night, with both the bartender and cocktail waitress making us feel like we were visiting the home of a friend.

During the second day of our visit, I was coming back from shopping and pulled into valet. I had used this service several times in the last couple days so was surprised there was no one to take my car. After waiting for about five minutes, a young man came running out and apologized for not meeting me immediately. I thought I'd finally found a chink in their armor, however, before I could get inside the front door, the hotel manager, Kimberley Roberson, came running up to me, shook my hand, and apologized for the inconvenience.

I can say I've stayed at hundreds of hotels all over the country and have never had that kind of attention. If all boutique resorts are like the Siena, I plan on searching them out whenever I'm traveling.

If you ever find yourself in Reno and really want to relax and recharge, I highly recommend a stay at the Siena. You won't be disappointed.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN OYSTER FRY

HISTORIC DISTRICT DISHES UP CURIOUS CULINARY CREATIONS.

Virginia City celebrates its nuttiest festival—the 23rd annual Rocky Mountain Oyster Fry—on March 15. This zany tradition summons more than 20 cooks dishing up an abundance of livestock testicles during one of Northern Nevada’s most popular tasting contests. The Nevada 150 official event coincides with the Virginia City St. Patrick’s Day Parade, ensuring a celebration not lacking in fun or fervor.

Though most commonly deep-fried, participant chefs are always fixing up fresh and innovative twists on traditional festival dishes. Testicles are ground up to make chili and meatballs; they are even wrapped in bacon before they are served to patrons with a hankering for the pseudo mollusks.

This year’s testicle festival features live Irish music, a beer garden, and individual and team Rocky Mountain Oyster-eating contests. The St. Patrick’s Day Parade begins at noon and ensures an abundance of Irish dancers and floats. The evening is topped off in Virginia City’s pubs during the Leprechaun Bar Crawl.

PEDAL CARS: KIDS CLASSIC RIDES

IMAGINATIVE EXHIBIT ROLLS THROUGH RENO MUSEUM.

Through May 22, visitors to the National Automobile Museum in Reno are treated to an exhibit that is miniature in size, but substantial in impact. During its 24th-anniversary celebration, the museum is paying tribute to iconic toys and prize collectables during its newest exhibit, "Pedal Cars: Kids Classic Rides."

The exhibit features an array of pedal cars, most notably Nellybelle—a miniature version of the Jeep from television's "The Roy Rogers Show"—along with the Casey Jones Cannonball Express locomotive. All pieces of the exhibit are from the private collection of Sandy and Ralph Theiss of Sparks.

Originating as toys for wealthy families, pedal cars reached heightened popularity in the 1920s and early 1930s. Production lost momentum during The Great Depression before stopping during WWII, when manufacturing focused on the war effort. Popularity ramped up in the 1950s and '60s, when pedal cars began to mimic their full-sized counterparts.

In addition to the new exhibit, the museum features more than 200 classic automobiles.

BEING THERE: A SUMMER DAY IN TUSCARORA

MAX WINTHROP

BY DAVID TOLL

Tuscarora's great event takes place every other year, usually over Memorial Day weekend: Open Studios, during which visitors may tour the ateliers and meet the "sensitives" (as my friend Buckeye Blake calls them) who make the art. This year the event was delayed to coincide with the dedication of the community's lovingly restored Tuscarora Society Hall, the happy ending to a grueling ten-year effort by the small community.

Tuscarora is about 50 miles north of Elko via the Mountain City Highway (State Route 225) and State Route 226. There is no store, no cafe, no saloon, and no commerce in the usual sense. There are only homes, studios, workshops, the post office, and now the Society Hall, which will be staffed by volunteers on August weekends.

Tuscarora began as a campfire in the sagebrush with a small group of Union Civil War veterans sitting around it. This was July 1867, and they were so elated with their placer mining prospects on the Owyhee River that they were already dreaming up a town site with a plaza at its center, a bank here, a hotel there, an opera house, saloons sprinkled all around, and the warehouses back here—and then puzzled over a name for it. One of them proposed Tuscarora, after the Union gunboat he had served aboard during the war, and it stuck.

After its second winter, Tuscarora was still a tent camp of fewer than a dozen placer miners, making a hard living. But on May 10, the transcontinental railroad was completed and all the Chinese workers were cut loose. The 1870 census counted 105 Chinese and 15 whites in the district. Most, if not all of them were working long toms and riffle boxes in the Owyhee and its tributaries.

In 1871, William O. Weed made a gold and silver strike on the flank of Mt. Blitzen a couple of miles to the northeast, and Tuscarora moved, miners, tents, name, and all. The original site is almost forgotten now, difficult to find and even more difficult to get to.

In 1900, 669 inhabitants remained. The two stores had closed by then, and the building housed the local masonic lodge until 1938. The population hasn't been above 50 since the 1920s, when the structure was put to a variety of uses but was principally a saloon. Just now the population is back down to about a dozen who winter through, plus maybe 20 more who return every spring and depart every autumn.

Dennis Parks helped put Tuscarora on the art map. He came in 1972 with his young family, to work in solitude as a potter, and eventually to establish his now famous pottery school. His memoir, "Living in the Country Growing Weird," is a Nevada classic.

In the early 1990s, John Fahnstock finally succeeded in buying the building after years of trying, and he rebuilt the western wall, which had failed; it's thanks to him the building is still standing. A group of local citizens formed a private non-profit organization, The Friends of Tuscarora and Independence Valley, and began the project by raising $20,000 in private funds to purchase the building from John. The group then gave the property to Elko County, and applied for grant funding to complete the transformation from a crumbling ruin to a remarkable living artifact, celebrating the long and colorful history of Tuscarora and the Independence Valley.

Austin, Nevada.

Where it's okay to get into a little hot water.

"Hot tubbing" is a bit different out near Austin, Nevada. The warm, soothing waters of Spencer Hot Springs lack a chlorine smell, and instead of cement, your feet will enjoy a more natural walkway. Majestic mountain ranges and a numbing quietness complement the overall serenity. Back in town, Austin's historic Main Street has shops, restaurants, and friendly motels. Come on out and test the waters of Austin, Nevada.
