POETRY OUT LOUD

Greetings:

It is my great pleasure to serve as Honorary Chair of the third annual Nevada State Poetry Out Loud competition.

All of the students who are competing here today are role models for us all. They have demonstrated the discipline it requires to memorize three poems from an anthology of poems selected by the National Endowment for the Arts and The Poetry Foundation, and they have studied and practiced them to the point where they can recite them with confidence and meaning.

I want to extend my congratulations to all of the organizations that have made this event possible. The Nevada Arts Council, the Nevada Department of Education and the Nevada Alliance for Arts Education can be extremely proud of the work they are doing. Without these organizations, many of Nevada's youth would have no exposure to the arts and the self-esteem building opportunities that participation in the arts offer. Research tells us that when youth are provided with alternative activities, they can make good decisions and stay away from drugs. The Governor and I are committed to supporting positive alternatives for youth, including the arts.

Congratulations as well to the families, communities, schools and teachers who have obviously succeeded at instilling in these young people an appreciation for the arts, which inspire all of us to achieve to our highest potential.

The Governor and I offer our best wishes to each of you who are competing today.

Sincerely,

Dawn Gibbons
First Lady of Nevada

Carson County
 Lainey Henderson
 Junior
 Carson High School
 Fred Perdomo, Principal

Lainey Henderson was born in Carson City and has always been attracted to theater; realizing at a young age that since her hometown lacks a certain activity and excitement, she must create her own entertainment from little more than dialogue and thin air. Lainey craves music, theater and literature of all sorts – reserving a special place in her heart (next to her boisterous friends and wonderful family) for listening to jazz music, singing in French and savoring her roles as Mary Helen Merriman in I’m Sorry the Bridge is Out, You’ll Have to Spend the Night, Jack Frost in The Life and Adventures of Santa Claus, and Rosencrantz in Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead. She is ecstatic at the opportunity to be a part of Poetry Out Loud this year and knows she will treasure the experience forever. Lainey thanks her coaches Tom Henderson, Karen Chandler and Tony Degeiso.

Douglas County

Jake Reid
Senior
Douglas High School
Marty Swisher, Principal

Jake's life has a superb cast, but he's still trying to figure out much of the main plot. He feels that Northern Nevada offers a terrific footing for kids like himself who are torn between life as an artist and as a nature enthusiast. Perhaps he'll be able to mingle those interests while studying Western classics at the great books school he's attending in the fall, St. John's College in New Mexico. St. John's agrees with Jake that you don't have to be a nerd to enjoy Melville and that it takes a lot more than blue hair to be different. Jake thanks his coaches James Scoggins, Bob & Carol Reid.

Elko County

Talton Gay
Junior
Independence High/Nevada Youth Training Center
Clark Davidson, Principal

Talton Gay was born and raised in Los Angeles. He not only enjoys acting and performing poetry out loud, but also writing poetry and rap and performing rap. My favorite authors include Edgar Allan Poe and Kurt Vonnegut Jr. This is the second year I have won the Poetry Out Loud in my district, but last year I was unable to travel to Reno for state competition due to family reasons – family always comes first. I have an appreciation for fine arts and music – I sing in our school Men's Chorus – and I like to write poetry. J'Mar thanks his coaches Jeff Setser, Vicki Meissner, Keiryn Tarafa, Mike Graham, Stephanie Vandersypen, Dan Hopfer, and Eric Jacobson

What is Poetry Out Loud?

The Poetry Out Loud National Recitation Contest, created by the National Endowment for the Arts and The Poetry Foundation seeks to foster the next generation of literary readers by capitalizing on the latest trends in poetry - recitation and performance. The program builds on the resurgence of poetry as an oral art form, as seen in the slam poetry movement and the immense popularity of rap music among youth. Poetry Out Loud invites the dynamic aspects of slam poetry, spoken word, and theater into English, theater, humanities and social studies classrooms. Through Poetry Out Loud, students can master public speaking skills, build self-confidence, and learn about their literary heritage.

Thousands of high school students across the nation will participate in Poetry Out Loud this year. State finalists advance to the National Finals where $50,000 in scholarships and school prizes will be awarded. Finalists will attend a welcome banquet at the J.W. Marriott Hotel on Sunday, April 27, with the National Semifinals to be held on April 28 and the Finals on April 29 on the George Washington University Campus. Students will also have an opportunity to meet their members of Congress at a special luncheon in their honor in the Dirksen Senate Office Building on April 29.

The Nevada Arts Council, the Nevada Alliance for Arts Education and the Nevada Department of Education invited all high schools across the state – public, charter and private – to participate in Poetry Out Loud. In our first year (2006), ten of Nevada's school districts participated. This year there are fifteen of the sixteen school districts in Nevada with a high school participating representing thirty schools, thirty-eight teachers and numerous students, family members, friends and coaches.
