Preface

The word “veto” is Latin for “I forbid.” The HarperCollins Dictionary of American Government and Politics defines veto as “the disapproval of proposed legislation by any chief executive who has formal authority to do so.” The Governor of the State of Nevada has such authority, per the Nevada Constitution (Art. 4, Sec. 35).

In Nevada, the Governor has the choice of signing bills, vetoing bills, or allowing them to become law without his signature. If the bill is delivered to the Governor with more than five days remaining in the session, the Governor has five days to make a decision. If it is delivered to the Governor with fewer than five days remaining in the session or after the Legislature has adjourned sine die (final adjournment of a legislative session), the Governor has ten days after sine die to make this decision. The day of delivery and Sundays are not counted for purposes of calculating these five- and ten-day periods. If the Governor vetoes a bill during the session, the measure is returned to the house of origin, with the specific objections to it, for further action, and the veto may be either sustained or overridden by a two-thirds vote of the elected members of each house. If the Governor vetoes a bill within ten days after adjournment (day of receipt and Sundays excepted), the bill must be filed, together with the specific objections to it, in the Office of the Secretary of State. When the next regular session of the Legislature convenes, the Secretary of State must present the vetoed bill to the house of origin for final disposition. If a two-thirds majority of the elected members of each house of the Legislature votes to override any gubernatorial veto on a recorded roll call vote, the measure becomes law despite the veto. If the Governor does not sign or veto a bill in the allotted time, it becomes law without that officer’s signature (Nevada Constitution, Art. 4, Sec. 35)(Legislative Manual, 2015).

Information Compiled in This Publication

The information in this book covers the years 1899–2015 and is therefore not comprehensive and should not be relied upon as a complete listing of all vetoes. Because information older than 1899 is more difficult to verify, it has not been included. As information is verified and cataloged, it will be added. For information about vetoes from sessions prior to 1899, please contact the Nevada State Archives.

Information contained in this book was compiled by going through the Journals of the Senate and the Journals of the Assembly. The bill numbers, bill summaries, and votes regarding the vetoes were found using the Journals. The date of the veto was taken from the veto message itself. Sometimes the veto messages were not printed in the Journals, but in the Appendices to the Journals of the Senate and Assembly.

Bills are cataloged and arranged according to their session of origin (i.e., the session in which they were introduced), regardless of whether the veto of the bill was acted on in the same session. For example, Governor Sadler vetoed five bills that originated in the 1899 Session. However, he vetoed the bills after session and the bills were returned to the 1901 Session where they were acted upon. Those five bills are counted as belonging to the 1899 Session. Similarly, those five bills are not counted toward the vetoed bill total for 1901 as they were introduced in and vetoed in 1899.

Substitute Bills

According to the Division of State Library, Archives, and Public Records, substitute bills were reprints of a bill that had been amended. A substitute bill could originate in either house, but often came from the second house in which a bill was heard.

Notation of Votes on Vetoed Bills

When a vetoed bill is returned to its house of origin, the question is put before the body: "Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the veto of the Governor?" A yea vote is a vote for override; a nay vote is a vote to sustain the veto. The votes are noted in this book as follows:

Yea (Override)—Nay (Sustain)—Excused—Absent—Not Voting

Thus, a vote of 25-8-2-2-3 means 25 members voted to override, 8 voted to sustain, 2 members were excused, 2 members were absent, and 3 members did not vote. A two-thirds majority is necessary in each house to override a gubernatorial veto. This is only a note on the vote regarding the veto and does not represent the original votes of the houses on the bill. Please consult the Journals of the Senate and Assembly to find the original votes on the bills.

When a house does not raise the question of a veto for a vote, it is noted in this book as Not Acted Upon in the column where the vote on the question would have been noted. The notation is to indicate that the question of the veto itself was not put before the body nor acted upon.

2015 Bills and Notations

All of the 2015 bills vetoed were vetoed after session and will be returned to the next regular session of the Legislature in 2017 for final disposition, and have the notation (To be returned to 2017 Legislature) in this book.
