This Special Donor Issue of Nevada Silver & Blue magazine was written and produced by the staff of the University of Nevada Reno Development & Alumni Relations division. The recognition given to those listed in this honor roll is one small way to thank our generous contributors. Every effort has been made to make this report accurate. If your name has been omitted, misspelled, or misplaced, we apologize. Please contact the Office of Donor Relations at (775) 784-1587 or donor_relations@unr.edu with questions or corrections.

Note: The academic degrees shown following an individual's name are only those degrees received from the University of Nevada, Reno.

Thank you

To be back on campus and temporarily in my old job affords me many wonderful opportunities. One of the most gratifying of my duties is to acknowledge and offer my sincere appreciation to the legions of faculty, staff, students, alumni, parents, benefactors, friends and community partners who play the title role in our success. This publication is our annual opportunity to do just that. I sincerely appreciate your personal commitment and your confidence in our future.

Private support is important and we take very seriously your investment in our work. Your generosity helps us to address the tremendous demands of a growing student body, including scholarships, program and research support, and technology and facility needs. From our earliest days as a university, the generosity of our donors has been critical in our ability to accomplish our land-grant mission and further our educational progress.

In this issue we pay tribute to each and every one of you who has made a gift to the University in 2005. Your name in this publication, indeed each name here, represents a vote of confidence in the University. The length of our list of donors is significant, and as heartening, as the number of dollars. It is quite a large job to say thanks to so many, and it is by necessity and not preference that we profile just a few individuals as a small example of our many wonderful supporters. We hope you enjoy the inspiring stories and highlights inside.

We have just completed the spring semester on campus and the season of celebration when we honor achievement and culminate with the spring Commencement ceremony. It is this grand ceremony, in the best season of the academic year, which reminds us why we're here. Your support makes possible each educational dream.

Again, on behalf of the students and faculty at the university, sincere and profound thanks.

Joseph N. Crowley
Interim President

On May 5, I had the pleasure of introducing Milton Glick as the next president of the University. He is expected to take office August 1. Dr. Glick has been executive vice president and provost of Arizona State University since 2002 and was senior vice president and provost for 11 years prior to that.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR, 2005

What a pleasure and privilege it was to serve as the chair of the University of Nevada, Reno Foundation for the year 2005.

The reports, stories and acknowledgements you're holding are a snapshot of the work and efforts of tens of thousands of people: students, professors, instructors, administrators and supporters of this great University. They have united for a common purpose: the discovery and transmittal of knowledge and the wisdom to use it for the common good.

It is inspiring to see the accomplishments of this community. I am proud to be a part of it.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR, 2006

This special publication of the University of Nevada, Reno Foundation has two purposes.

First, we want to thank all of the wonderful friends, supporters and contributors who have given so much to the University. All are recognized by name on the Honor Roll of Donors. Without you, the University could not continue its quest to fulfill the vision of a great institution of learning, a leader in research and a vital element of the community.

We also want to give alumni, donors and the world a sample of the distinguished past and the compelling future of this campus. It is a University being remade, with a growing student population of more than 16,000, groundbreaking and innovative research and teaching, and the creation of new facilities and tools that will assist all parts of the University community in achieving their goals.

Enjoy the features and information in this publication. We are proud to present the story of a university on the rise.

2005 HONOR ROLL OF DONORS

University of Nevada, Reno

UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, RENO FOUNDATION
...to support teaching, research and outreach activities of the University of Nevada, Reno

The University of Nevada, Reno Foundation is a nonprofit IRS Sec. 501(c)(3) organization independent from the University of Nevada, Reno. Its office is located in the University's Morrill Hall Alumni Center. The foundation is governed by a volunteer board of directors that elects its officers. The University of Nevada, Reno acknowledges the University of Nevada, Reno Foundation as the designated channel for private contributions that benefit all areas of the University. The Development and Alumni Relations staff works on behalf of the foundation with alumni, friends and community partners to generate funds for scholarships, professorships, facilities, equipment, research and other University priorities.

Silver & Blue Society

Silver & Blue gifts support faculty excellence

One of the truly remarkable things about the University of Nevada, Reno is the consistency of its progression. Since its founding in 1874, that progress and growth has allowed students, faculty, and programs to prosper and excel in northern Nevada and to contribute throughout the world. Our history has been shaped by the unwavering and continual support of alumni, friends, parents and community partners. It is no surprise that consistent donors have played a major role in the University's success.

The Silver & Blue Society recognizes and honors those who give a minimum amount of $1,874 in unrestricted funding to the University to address top priorities on an annual basis. Unrestricted funding is a critical resource that supports operations and the University's most pressing needs. One of the many programs funded by unrestricted funding is the Foundation Professorships (see inset of current recipients). Created in 1983, the program was developed to recognize and salute Nevada professors for outstanding achievement, particularly in research and teaching.

Each award involves an annual stipend given for a three-year period to be used for professional growth. The trustees of the University's foundation believe that when faculty are actively involved in important research, students benefit from an enriched classroom experience.

For more information about the Silver & Blue Society call Crystal Parrish at (775) 784-6620 or email cparrish@unr.edu.

University of Nevada, Reno Foundation

MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Thank you for your incredible support. We are able to build programs of excellence at the University of Nevada, Reno only through the remarkable investment of each and every person, company and organization listed in this special donor issue.

Your commitment and generosity accomplishes an amazing amount of good work. As the diagrams on the following pages illustrate, programmatic support in the 2005 fiscal year topped $22 million. More than $6 million went to support academic programs and another $2.8 million for student scholarships – in fact, more than 1,200 students received awards for the 2005-2006 school year.

Accomplishments like these are not without a tremendous amount of hard work. At the center of our efforts are dedicated volunteers and staff who work year-round on behalf of the University to garner much needed support. These individuals have assisted in the successful completion of the Mathewson-IGT Knowledge Center two-year fundraising campaign, surpassing the $22 million goal; and in achieving a record $23.2 million in private funding for 2005.

Above all, we are privileged and honored to have your support, because ultimately it is you, our donors, who make possible true excellence at the University of Nevada, Reno. Our good work continues because of your dedication, commitment and generosity. You are the heart of this University and we are tremendously grateful for your investment in our future.

WAYS TO GIVE

Endowed Gifts

An endowed gift is a real investment in the future of the University of Nevada, Reno. This type of gift is maintained in perpetuity. Only a portion of the returns are used in order to allow the fund to grow for greater returns in the future.

Gift Pledges

Pledges are formal statements of your intent to make a gift to benefit University of Nevada, Reno. You are able to fulfill your pledge by making regular payments over a period of time.

Matching Gifts

A matching gift increases the impact of your gift. Many corporations have demonstrated their support for the University of Nevada, Reno Foundation by matching or multiplying their employees' gifts. Before making a gift, ask your employer if they participate in a matching gift program or check online at www.case.org/new_mg.

Outright Gifts

Gifts of cash, securities or other property are outright gifts that can be used to support current and future needs of the university.

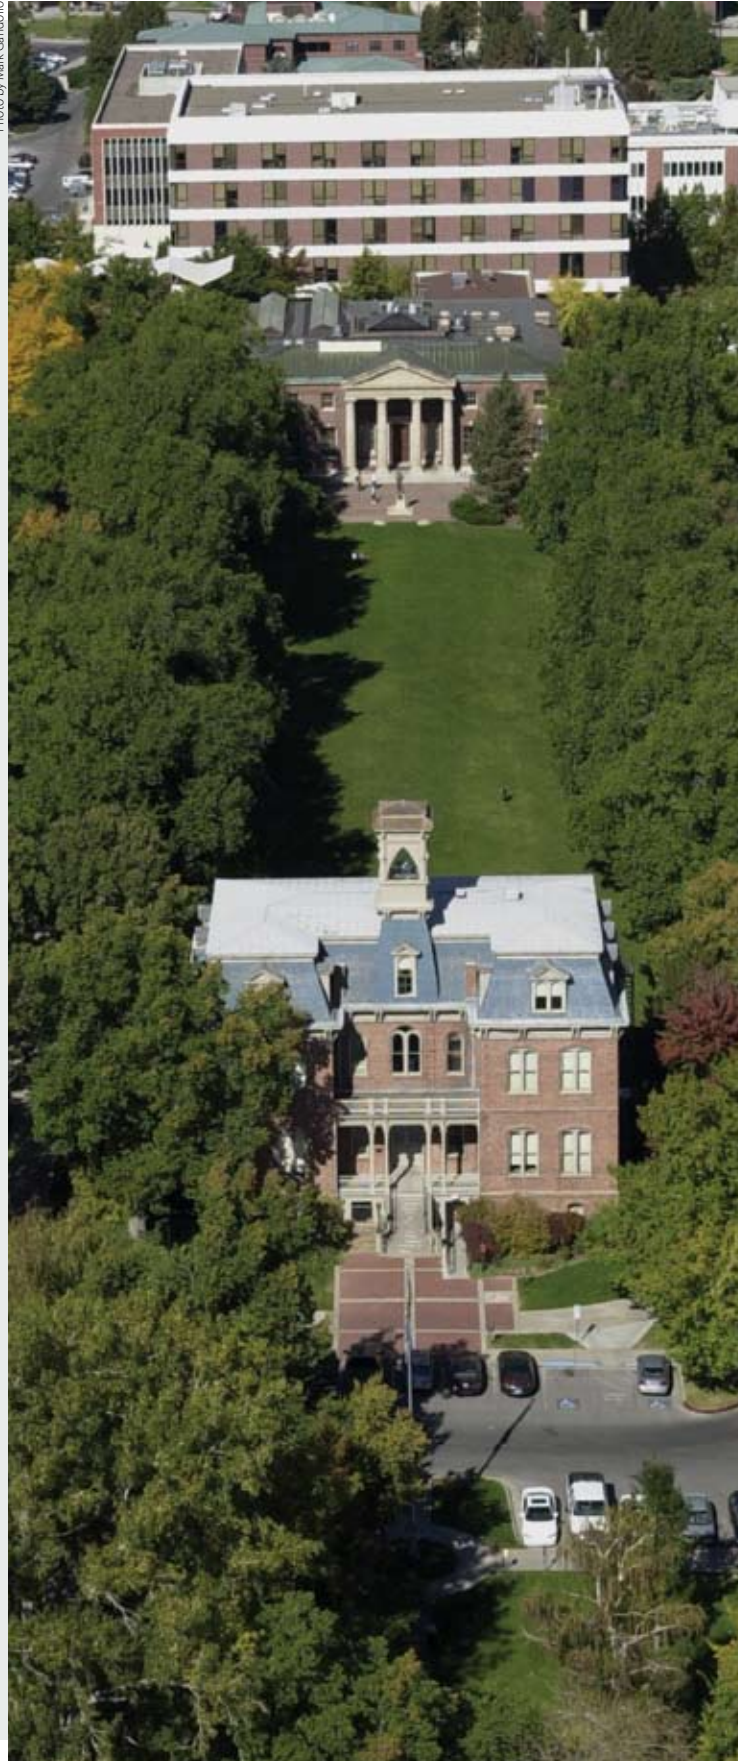

Planned Gifts

A planned gift may maximize your giving potential to create a legacy at the University of Nevada, Reno. Also, it may provide a guaranteed income and specific tax advantages to the donor. (Learn more about this on page 33.)

Bob & Jean Myles

Helping Nevada's Healthcare Future

Bob and Jean Myles have done a lot of giving in their lives. A Reno physician, Bob specialized in internal medicine for 38 years. He served on the Washoe Medical Center Board of Directors for 15 years and is an active member of the Washoe County Medical Society. In addition to raising four children, Jean has worked with nonprofit community organizations including Washoe County Medical Society's Alliance and has served as a member of the University's College of Arts and Science Advisory Board.

Together, the couple established endowed scholarship funds at the University of Nevada, Reno, Truckee Meadows Community College and Washoe Medical Foundation's Nursing for Excellence Program. Their philanthropy has been the result of careful planning and focus.

In 2005 they made a major gift of stock to the Orvis School of Nursing to establish the Myles Family Endowed Scholarship in Nursing. The goal of the scholarship is to improve medical care in the community.

"We chose to fund nursing scholarships because a physician cannot practice without a nurse at his right hand," said Bob. "Our giving is in recognition of the nurses I have had the opportunity to work with in Reno and during my medical training."

Bob and Jean Myles have a long history of supporting students in their academic endeavors. In 1996 Jean received a President's Medal, which she proudly wears (in picture).

"Something needed to be done to alleviate the shortage of nurses in Nevada," added Jean.

The two carefully considered the options before deciding that gifts of corporate stock made financial sense. They were well aware of the advantages of giving securities.

"In giving stock, we actually saved money," Bob summed up. "If we had sold the stock and given cash, it would have been far less after capital gains taxes."

Jean hopes more people will consider the possibility of giving tangible assets.

"I think that people need to know that they can give things like jewelry, buildings, book collections or land and that the value of tangible items is tax deductible," she said. "Our choice is to give stock, where others might choose to give other things."

And their good work didn't end there. Soon after learning about the new School of Public Health, which was established by the Board of Regents in the summer of 2004, the Myleses were convinced that establishing a scholarship within the school was another great way to ensure a robust future for healthcare in Nevada.

Established this spring, the Myles scholarship is the first scholarship in public health to be endowed and will be used to provide assistance to students who are pursuing a degree

Giving to Nevada

“Dr. Bob and Jean Myles have been caring for and about the community for many years. They have generously shared their time and talent in numerous leadership positions including Washoe Medical Center’s Board of Directors and other significant nonprofit community service organizations. Their vision and philanthropy with the Orvis School of Nursing in particular has gone a long way to increase the availability of much-needed nursing professionals in this region.”

— Ron Laxton, M.S.N., R.N., administrator of Washoe Medical Center’s Mill Street hospital

The Orvis School of Nursing

The mission of the Orvis School of Nursing is to prepare individuals for both entry-level and advanced nursing roles by providing excellent academic programs integrating recognized educational standards.

The curriculum emphasizes nursing care of individuals, families and populations throughout the lifespan; among diverse cultures and beliefs; and across all socioeconomic groups in the context of their environments by providing a strong foundation for evidence-based practice, critical thinking, and leadership.

As an essential part of its mission as a land grant institution, Orvis School of Nursing provides service to the state of Nevada and to the professional community at large.

In the spring of ‘06 the OSN had 145 undergraduate students and 47 graduate students.

Students in the Bachelor of Science in Nursing program complete four semesters of coursework. To address the state’s shortage of nurses, OSN doubled enrollment in the academic year of 2004-05. The school currently runs the Summer Session like a regular semester. Therefore, students attend classes year-round to complete the program in 18 months.

Nursing students are given the opportunity to earn valuable experience at the Orvis Nursing Clinic located in downtown Reno. This clinic serves the working underinsured and uninsured members of the Truckee Meadows community.

The OSN has 26 full-time faculty positions, with doctoral-prepared faculty expected to engage in scholarly research activities.

In addition to actively educating students and participating in the operations of the Orvis Nursing Clinic, OSN faculty are actively involved in community health fairs, consulting positions with clinical agencies, and serving in community organizations statewide.

Orvis School of Nursing holds low-cost shot clinics in the community, this one at the Moana Nursery in April.

in the discipline of public health and who intend to actively pursue a career in the public health profession. The scholarship will help attract students to meet the shortage of public health workers in universities, hospitals, and state and county health departments.

The School of Public Health is being built through the accomplishments of the 15-faculty Department of Health Ecology and its successful Masters in Public Health program and is committed to exploring, understanding, and promoting health and wellness across the lifespan through education, research, and community outreach. The school currently offers an undergraduate degree in health ecology and the Master of Public Health degree with areas of concentration including epidemiology; social/behavioral health; child, family, and lifespan health; aging; nutrition; and bioethics. A doctoral program is the School’s next academic goal in the near future.

FACULTY AND STAFF GIVING

Foreign Languages and Literatures Endowed Scholarship

Many faculty and staff members at the University choose to give through contributions to the Annual Fund. They do this via payroll deductions to specific causes and programs or through the contribution of their valuable personal time to volunteer on campus and in the community.

The faculty and staff of the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures in the College of Liberal Arts have gone a step further. By starting the Foreign Languages and Literatures Endowed Scholarship through their gifts and payroll deductions, they intend to build a fully endowed perpetual source of financial assistance for outstanding students in the department. So far 14 members of the department have contributed.

Michelle Hoyt, operations manager, says she got the idea for an "in house" scholarship as part of a marketing plan she developed for the department.

"We can't ask others to invest in us if we're not willing to invest in ourselves," she said.

Michelle and the other members of the department also wanted a new and tangible way to recognize excellence in their students and reward those who choose foreign languages as a major or minor.

"The $10,000 needed for an endowment seemed like a lot of money," said Miriella Melara, associate professor of French and department chair, "but when we sat down and asked what it would take, if everyone just gave a little bit each month, it wasn't really going to take that long. The main thing was to begin with that one step."

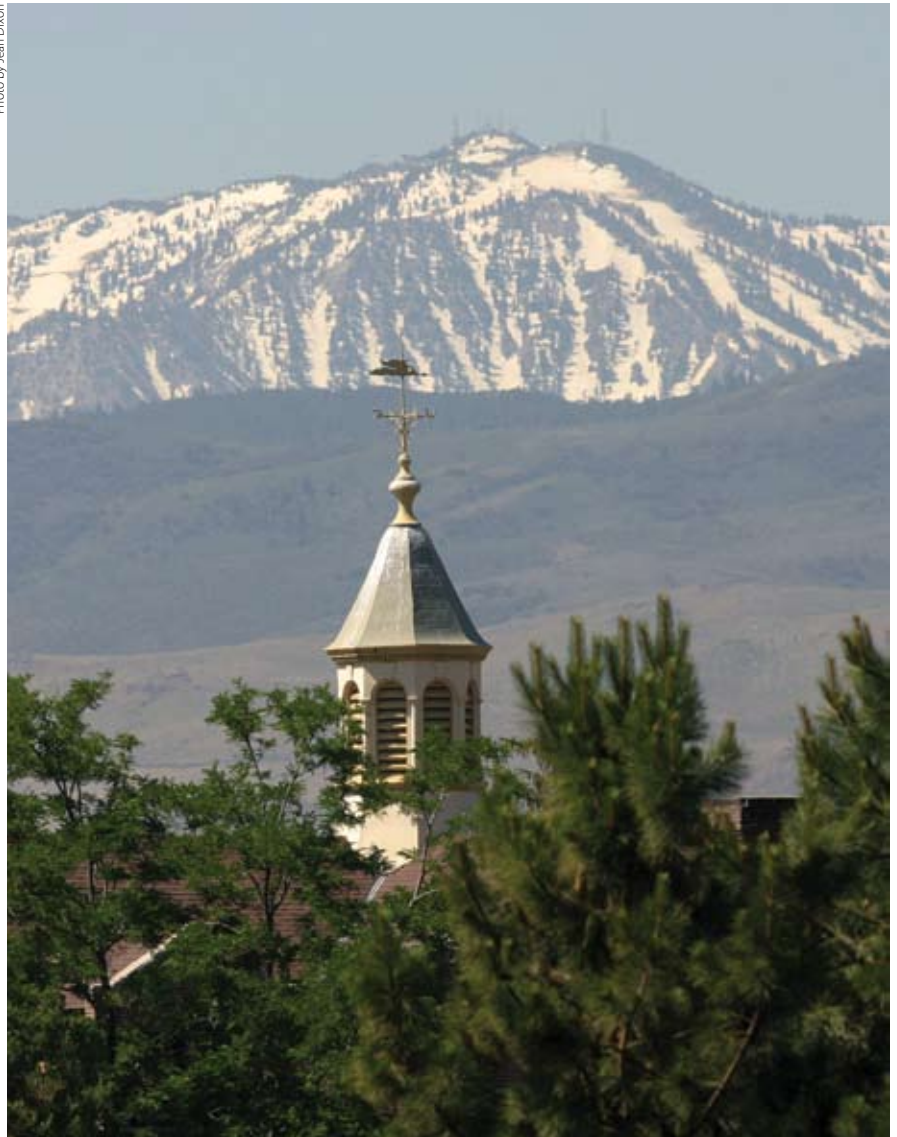

For more information on the Foreign Languages and Literatures Endowed Scholarship or other opportunities to assist the College of Liberal Arts, call Robyn Powers '70, the college's director of development, at (775) 784-6873 or rpowers@unr.edu.

Alumni

Nevada alumni continue their generous and active support of their alma mater. While the vast majority of contributions are unrestricted so they can be used to meet the most urgent needs of the University, alumni do earmark contributions for specific purposes, including funds for particular academic departments, scholarships, class endowments and a wide variety of other programs and projects. Alumni donors whose gifts were received between January 1, 2005, and December 31, 2005, are listed in this report.

Caesar Ibarra with his wife, Theresa, and daughter, Kaylyn.

CAESAR IBARRA

An Alumnus and his employer give generously

As president-elect of the College of Business Administration Chapter of the Nevada Alumni Association, Caesar Ibarra '00 (accounting) has been giving back to the college and current undergraduates through a lot of hard work.

Caesar, an accountant at Muckel Anderson CPAs in Reno, earned his degree in accounting from Nevada in 2000. He became active in the college's alumni organization almost immediately, serving as treasurer for two years. This summer he'll take over as chapter president.

According to Caesar, the support of Muckel Anderson has been vital in allowing him to contribute.

"They're very generous with allowing me time to help the University," he said. "One of Muckel Anderson's core values is giving back to the community."

In fact, the firm regularly recruits new associates on campus. Among the Muckel Anderson partners are Mike Klaich, past president of the University's Alumni Association, and Butch Anderson, president-elect of the Athletic Association of the University of Nevada.

Caesar has put in long hours organizing events like the annual COBAAA golf tournament to raise funds for business students' educational activities. Balancing the demands of his profession, a growing family (he and his wife, Theresa, recently gave birth to their second daughter) and volunteering for the alumni association takes a lot of commitment, but he's enjoying it.

For many years the business college alumni group funded a scholarship and in 2002 the group made it a permanent endowment. In 2005 the business alumni embarked on a drive to raise significant funds for the renovation of the student lounge in the Ansari Business Building. With funds now raised, completion of the project is expected late this summer.

Like many others who received their higher education here and are eager to give something back, Caesar Ibarra and the other members of the business alumni association are alumni in action.

To support the College of Business Administration contact the college's director of development, Stephanie Scoppettone '96, at (775) 784-4912, ext. 409, or scops@unr.edu.

A long road to contribution

M. Bashir Sulahria '69 (renewable natural resources), '72Ph.D. (hydrology/hydrogeology) had to fly for three days and across three continents to come to the University of Nevada, Reno for his graduate studies.

Julie Jensen '72 (home economics) had only to drive over the Sierras from her home in Redwood City, California. The University brought them together and led to their marriage and a family.

Bashir originally came to Nevada in 1967 to earn a master's in renewable natural resources after seven years as a college instructor and forester in Pakistan. Julie arrived from California to get her master's in home economics. They met at a student party in 1971 and after Bashir obtained a doctorate in 1972 both moved to the Bay Area. They married in 1975.

Jobs were not easy to find for recent Ph.D.s in the mid-1970s.

"The Chinese proverb, 'May you live in interesting times,' fit me like a glove," wrote Bashir in his memoir Harbinger of Good News. "I was a Ph.D. hydrologist having a hard time surviving and dealing with a volatile economic situation."

After adventures in the real estate, import and restaurant businesses in Berkeley, Bashir was very happy to be hired by the Nevada State Conservation Commission as a water quality specialist in 1977. He and Julie have been in northern Nevada ever since. He eventually retired from the Bureau of Land Management while Julie, after working in city planning, retired from the Nevada Department of Transportation. These days she enjoys painting in watercolors and being a volunteer docent at the Nevada Museum of Art in Reno.

For several years Bashir and Julie have wanted to give something back to the University that brought them together and laid the foundation for their professional success. In 2005 they created a scholarship endowment. Proceeds are awarded to a first-generation student in the College of Agriculture, Biotechnology and Natural Resources studying agriculture production or Bashir's own field of water resources.

"We had been thinking about it for quite awhile," said Julie. "We're both first-generation students and we are also concerned with the depletion of our soil and water. That's the beginning of the food chain. We established this scholarship because we are looking to the future."

Parent Donors

The Parents Fund is a very special part of the Annual Giving Campaign and receives support from parents of both alumni and current students. Gifts from parents are an important vote of confidence in the quality of a University of Nevada, Reno education. The Parents Fund generates money that is designated for use in improving the general educational experience and the quality of life for the student body as a whole. Parents whose gifts were received between January 1, 2005, and December 31, 2005, are listed in this report.

Your planned giving team

A familiar face on campus, Bob Eggleston joined the University in 1991 and has an extensive career in planned giving, helping friends and alumni with the myriad of gift giving options including life insurance, securities, charitable annuities and real estate. Lisa Riley is a Nevada native and experienced attorney with comprehensive research and estate planning expertise including trusts and wills. Together Eggleston and Riley will work to help you achieve your philanthropic goals.

For more information about planned giving opportunities and related strategies to reduce your estate tax and income tax visit <http://giving.unr.edu> or contact the University's planned giving department at (775) 784-1352, beggleston@unr.edu and lriley@unr.edu.

Planned Gifts

Bequests, charitable annuities and other forms of planned gifts are an increasingly important part of our University's growth and stability. The thoughtful generosity of alumni, faculty and staff and other friends in the community in remembering the University of Nevada, Reno Foundation in their estate plans is very much appreciated.

The following bequests were received between January 1, 2005, and December 31, 2005.

Jean Mary Clawson Trust

Jean Mary Clawson '47 (zoology), a former nurse, saw great importance in supporting future health professionals in their education and bequeathed funds to establish the Jean Mary Clawson Scholarship Endowment.

Roxie Archie Unitrust

Although Roxie was not a University of Nevada graduate, Roxie valued education and was proud to designate gifts in her estate to establish the Roxie Archie School of Medicine Scholarship to benefit students pursuing careers in medicine and the Roxie Archie COBA Scholarship to benefit students pursuing a career in business.

Azad McIver Trust

This planned gift from the estate of Azad "Victoria" McIver will provide assistance to students in the College of Business Administration through the Victoria McIver Scholarship Endowment.

Estate of Ogden Monahan

Ogden Monahan '24 (arts & science) lived most of his life in Northern California and maintained a fondness for his alma mater. Ogden designated part of his estate to meet the most pressing needs by contributing to the Unrestricted Excellence Fund.

Planned Giving Foundation - George & Mary Tweedy Scholarship Endowment

George Tweedy '42 (mining engineering) cherished the education he received at the University of Nevada, Reno, so much so that he and his wife, Mary, established this scholarship in their estate plans to support students at the medical school.

Estate of Jim Wilson

As a lifelong supporter of Wolf Pack Athletics, James Wilson '50 (physical education) left in his estate funds to establish the Jim Wilson University of Nevada, Reno Football Scholarship Endowment. This fund will support football players in pursuit of their educational and athletic goals.

Jessie Patricia McCarthy Trust

Jessie Patricia McCarthy did not attend the University, but she greatly cherished it and her family's involvement with the campus. She bequeathed in her estate the funds to establish the Jessie McCarthy Comstock Scholarship Endowment to benefit Nevada students from the Virginia City/Comstock area where she grew up.

Robert C. Davey Revocable Living Trust

A planned gift from Robert Davey's estate will support scholarships for engineering students in perpetuity. A veteran of WWII, Mr. Davey '37 (electrical engineering) retired as an Engineer in 1977.

Estate of Lois Modic

Lois Modic's '36 (journalism) intent in establishing the Delcey Ann Dickerson Memorial Trust Fund through her estate was to aid deserving journalism students at the Reynolds School of Journalism and to memorialize her daughter Delcey.

Estate of Edwin L. and Kathryn L. Cantlon

Dr. Edwin Cantlon '32 (zoology) and his wife Kathryn bequeathed in their estate the funds to establish the Edwin L. and Kathryn L. Cantlon Memorial Scholarship to benefit students in good standing at the School of Medicine.

Atkins Family Revocable Trust

Arthur Atkins '40 (mining engineering) and his wife Vlasta bequeathed a gift from their estate to establish the Arthur and Vlasta Atkins Scholarship Endowment for the benefit of students in the Mackay School of Earth Sciences and Engineering.

Clara Hanson Elia Trust

Clara Hanson Elia '40 (English), for whom the arts were a major focus of her life and interests, left in her bequest a generous gift for use in the new Mathewson-IGT Knowledge Center.

Fellowships aid medical students

Many people consider medicine to be the greatest of the helping professions. Becoming a doctor involves long, difficult years of education. Four years of undergraduate work and four more of medical school followed by yet more years of difficult, and not highly paid, practical training known as “residency.”

It would be even harder if a young medical student’s parents had died, leaving the student and his new spouse with four younger siblings to care for while continuing medical education and training.

That’s exactly what happened to Durward A. Huckabay and his wife, Margaret, in 1923. As a young volunteer in the Navy during World War I, Durward had met many challenges; with Margaret’s help he met this one as well. He completed his courses and became a practicing physician and surgeon while raising his brothers and sisters.

Dr. Huckabay’s experiences as a medical student helped to inspire a gift last year to the University of Nevada School of Medicine from his family, Durward “Huck” Huckabay, and Susan. They understand and appreciate the financial hardships many dedicated students experience as they prepare for careers in medicine.

The Durward A. Huckabay, M.D., Fellowship is directed to medical students in need of financial assistance and intended to help them pursue their higher educational goals without debt.

The School of Medicine recently named the first recipients of the Huckabay Fellowship, honoring the care that Huck’s father gave to his patients. The fellowship assists a new generation of physicians as they train to help others.

“With this fellowship we’re passing on an idea of contribution and service to the students along with financial assistance,” says Susan.

Her words are the essence of what philanthropy is all about.

To learn more about the Durward A. Huckabay, M.D., Fellowship and the School of Medicine contact Bruce Mack, associate vice president of development and alumni relations, at (775) 784-1352 or bmack@unr.edu.

About the University of Nevada School of Medicine

The School of Medicine, spring of '06:

- 208 undergraduate medical students
- 52 basic science graduate students
- 202 medical and surgical residents
- 29 post-doctoral scholars

The School of Medicine offers the following degree programs:

- Doctorate of Medicine
- Bachelor of Science in Speech Pathology and Audiology
- Master’s and Ph.D. in biochemistry, cell biology and physiology, microbiology, pharmacology

► M.D. curriculum traditionally takes four years but can be extended at a student’s request to accommodate research years.

► The M.D./Ph.D. program averages seven years. Students complete the first two years of medical school, then begin graduate work. After completing the graduate portion of the program, they return for the third and fourth years of medical school. In May of this year, three students graduated with the joint M.D./Ph.D. degrees.

► School of Medicine graduates consistently generate high-performance rating scores in residency training programs and regularly enter some of the most competitive residency training programs in the nation, including Mayo Clinic, Tufts and UCLA.

Why did you choose University of Nevada School of Medicine?

I chose it because of the small class size. This was very appealing because it offered the opportunity to become closely involved with the faculty and my classmates.

Aaron Dickens

I didn't want to be just a face in the crowd.

What are your current goals – professionally and otherwise?

The only professional goal that I have at this point is to find a field in medicine that fits me well. My problem so far is that I find everything interesting and I am hoping that these next two clinical years will help me settle into something that I will enjoy for the rest of my life. The most important factor for me is to be available for my family.

Favorite professor/class and why?

Pathology. The diseases and pathogens are fascinating. Dr. Ken Maehara's Socratic teaching style is captivating and he provides an ideal environment for my own learning style.

Meaningful med school experience so far and why?

Everyday, the interactions with my classmates are meaningful. We have bonded as a class and formed many lifelong friendships. All of my brief glimpses of clinical settings and interactions with patients are meaningful in countless ways—intellectually, emotionally, and educationally.

Why did you choose University of Nevada School of Medicine?

I love the program here. I liked that this medical school really emphasizes patient care very early in our education. I learned about the Student Outreach Clinic (SOC) while applying, and knew that this was something I wanted to be involved in. The SOC is a student run free clinic serving the uninsured and underinsured, and I really believe in its mission.

What are your current goals – professionally and otherwise?

My current goal is to take as many opportunities as I can for my education while keeping as much of a balanced personal life as possible. Coming into medical school, I thought I wanted to be a psychiatrist, but now I am exploring other interests and have become interested in Ob-gyn and infectious diseases, specifically HIV/AIDS.

Summer plans?

This summer will be very exciting. In May I will work with an Ob-Gyn in Reno and then I will be head to Bosnia (where I grew up) and then Croatia (where most of my family lives). There I will be working with a family practice physician until the fall.

Final thought?

I am extremely grateful to be the recipient of the Huckabay Fellowship. I appreciate the kindness and I hope to pay it forward in the future by helping a student in need such as myself.

Why did you choose University of Nevada School of Medicine?

I grew up in Reno and went away to do my undergraduate work. I wanted to return because I liked the size of the school. It's small and emphasizes primary care and has a rotation in rural medicine. I plan to practice here.

Why did you choose to study medicine?

My undergraduate degree is in journalism. After graduation I realized it wasn't the best fit. I always wanted to know more. I wanted to know the whole story and how things turned out. As a primary care physician I will be able to help and follow individuals throughout their lives.

Favorite Professor/Class and Why?

Dr. Tracey Green makes me work hard, and inspires me to become an excellent family physician. It's rewarding because I get to put my clinical skills to the test as well as integrate what I've learned in class.

Meaningful med school experience so far and why?

The anatomy lab has been incredibly meaningful. Sometimes I get really sick of being in there for hours at a time, but there really won't be another opportunity like this ever again. Having the chance to learn anatomy on a human cadaver is frustrating and overwhelming, but often very beautiful.

Final thought?

I heart the Huckabays! Thank you!

Making a Difference — around Reno and statewide

Outreach efforts

- School of Medicine provides health care support in nearly every hospital and clinic in the state of Nevada.
- School of Medicine oversees the Center for Education Health Services Outreach (CEHSO), a program dedicated to the support of rural health care providers and institutions throughout the state.
- First- and second-year medical students operate the Student Outreach Clinic in Reno in cooperation with the Salvation Army and Head Start.
- The School of Medicine oversees Nevada's Tobacco User's Helpline as well as the Organ and Tissue Donation Task Force. Additionally, the school provides support to the Baby Your Baby program, Camp Bristlecone, Tar Wars, and the student health clinics for both the University of Nevada, Reno and UNLV.

Clinical care efforts

- The School of Medicine's statewide health care groups provide approximately $10 million in uncompensated care to uninsured or underinsured patients each year.
- The faculty of the school, through clinical practices in Reno and Las Vegas, see more than 120,000 clinical patients and nearly 35,000 hospital patients annually. Additionally, these faculty physicians deliver more than 5,500 babies throughout the state each year.
- Drs. Melissa Piasecki, Ole Thienhaus and Thomas Kim of the Department of Psychiatry staff the mental health services at the Washoe County Detention Facility in Reno, providing services to about 1,000 inmates. No other psychiatrists visit that institution.
- The School of Medicine runs the only American College of Surgeons (ACS)-verified Level One Trauma Center in Nevada. The Trauma Center treats more than 14,000 patients annually and earned national acclaim for saving the life of entertainer Roy Horn after he was attacked by one of his tigers.

A STUDENT'S GRATITUDE

Dear Ms. Parson,

I wanted to say thank you for your scholarship. I am blessed to attend the University of Nevada, Reno and I want to assure you that your scholarship is being used to help reach my goal of obtaining a higher education. Thank you for establishing this scholarship to help minority students, it is an honor to represent this group. A person I admire here on campus is Dr. Angie Taylor, assistant vice president for student services. I only mention this because she has mentioned to me that she knows you. She is truly an inspiration as she too helps minority students, faculty and staff everyday! Again, I wanted to say thank you and let you know that you have my sincerest gratitude and utmost appreciation!

Sincerely,

Vanessa Monroe

Hello – Nevada calling

Meet the University of Nevada, Reno students who spend their evenings phoning alumni from the call center in Morrill Hall. Wolf Call employs 21 Nevada students and is the University's way to make personal contact with alumni, parents and friends and ask for support. The student callers of Wolf Call provide current information and perspectives about what's happening on campus. Elizabeth Hogue is a Wolf Call team captain in her 3rd year with the program. She majors in journalism in the Reynolds School of Journalism and plans to graduate in 2007. Asked about her duties, she says "Nevada alumni are great and it makes me proud to be a student here. Every night we hear incredible stories from alumni and we receive amazing gifts and pledges of support."

Many of the Nevada alumni and friends who made gifts to the Annual Fund last year realize that state support and tuition and fees cover only a portion of the actual costs of a University education. Support of the 2005 Annual Fund totaled more than $175,000. These annual gifts to a particular school, college, department or campus program help talented students and faculty reach their goals of excellence and strengthen the institution and the contribution and impact the University has in the community, the state and nation.

The next time your telephone rings, it just might be Nevada calling.

For more information about the Annual Fund, contact Colin Beck '01 at (775) 784-1352 x 2245 or colinb@unr.edu.

A STUDENT'S GRATITUDE

Dear Mrs. Jones,

Your scholarship means a great deal to me and I appreciate, more than words can express, the honor of receiving it. Because of this scholarship I have been able to pursue opportunities I would have not been able to otherwise, and, therefore, I am extremely grateful.

Since this scholarship has provided me funding for school, I was given the amazing opportunity to study abroad this past fall semester in England. It was an experience that has changed my life, and it would not have been possible without your generosity.

I am set up to graduate this spring and I feel very excited and privileged. Once I graduate, I will either stay here in the Reno area or move to the East Coast and try out life in a different part of the country. I hope to find work in the public relations sector, and I would especially like to find a career path that allows me to travel, as being abroad has given me quite the appetite for it.

Again, thank you very much for your scholarship program. I know all students who receive it are forever grateful.

Sincerely,

Misha M. Longfellow

05-06 recipient of the Clarence & Martha Jones Foundation Scholarship

Everyone comes up a winner with Satre Chair

Games of chance are an integral and colorful part of Nevada's history and economy. The University of Nevada, Reno is a worldwide leader in the study of the business and industry of gaming, and in 2005 that position was solidified with the endowment of the Philip G. Satre Chair in Gaming Studies.

Now retired from Harrah's Entertainment, Inc., Phil Satre was chairman and CEO during a period of tremendous expansion and success for the company. As he neared retirement after 25 years with Harrah's, his friends and colleagues came together to honor him through an endowed University chair.

The chair is currently held by William R. Eadington, professor of economics and director of the Institute for the Study of Gambling and Commercial Gaming. Eadington's economic studies and other research on gaming have had a profound impact on the industry. He was an inspiring choice as the first scholar to hold the Satre Chair.

Endowing a chair at a university is no small matter; it has a major positive impact on the college involved and requires a major investment by the donor or donors. Leading the way in supporting the new endowment was Gary Loveman, chairman, president and CEO of Harrah's Entertainment. Loveman made a substantial personal gift, facilitated contributions from other leaders in the gaming industry and helped obtain a $1 million pledge from Harrah's Foundation.

The endowment of the Satre Chair is expected to have a long-term, positive impact on the campus, the gaming industry and Nevada's economy. Thanks to Gary Loveman, Harrah's and the many friends of Phil Satre and the University, everyone has come up a winner.

The Satre Chair and the Institute for the Study of Gambling and Commercial Gaming are within the College of Business Administration. For information on supporting the college contact Director of Development Stephanie Scoppettone '96 at (775) 784-4912, extension 409, or scops@unr.edu.

A STUDENT'S GRATITUDE

Dear Bretzlaff Foundation,

I am a sophomore pursuing a bachelors degree in biochemistry. Last summer I was unable to accept a job in a lab on campus that would have given me valuable experience in my field of study. I crunched the numbers and knew if I wanted to return to Nevada in the fall I would have to find a well-paying summer job. So, for financial reasons I returned to my hometown and spent a long, hot summer working at a geothermal plant. I was fortunate that Dr. Beattie, who offered me the job in the lab, understood and allowed me to begin the position in the fall. Had I not earned your scholarship for the fall I would have had to decline the position and valuable experience once again. The hard physical labor I did last summer put into perspective how important your scholarship is to my success as a student. I could not pursue my dream of becoming a biochemist without your generosity. Thank you.

Sincerely,

University receives gift, gives back through Nevada MESA

The Mathematics, Engineering and Science Achievement program works. Aimed specifically at inspiring a greater number of minority, low-income and first-generation students to seek a higher education, the program and its hands-on approach have produced measurable, positive results wherever the program has been implemented, including at nine schools in Nevada.

Now, thanks to a $20,000 gift in 2005 from the Terry Lee Wells Foundation, MESA has come to Reno's Procter R. Hug High School. University students and faculty, including some who have personally benefited from the program, are mentoring the Hug High students. Direct contact with young people already in college is a vital part of MESA, giving younger students role models for academic success.

The program objectives include doubling the number of minority students in advanced high school math and science classes and in Nevada System of Higher Education science programs within three years.

"If you look at the statistics, this country has a serious lack of scientists and engineers in training. This program will have a direct, positive impact on that number," said Stanley Omaye, professor of nutrition and a state extension specialist at the University.

Each year the University receives thousands of generous donations in support of students and programs. In turn, one of its missions is to contribute to making the community a better place. Thanks to the dedication and hard work of faculty and students and the financial support of the Terry Lee Wells Foundation, MESA is doing just that.

Stanley Omaye in the College of Human and Community Sciences is the University coordinator for MESA and can be reached at (775) 784-6447 or omaye@unr.edu. To support the College of Human and Community Sciences, contact Shari Netzel, director of development, at (775) 784-6979 or snetzel@unr.edu

New Foundation Endowments

New endowments – important, meaningful and forever

Establishing an endowed fund at the University of Nevada, Reno Foundation transforms lives — those of the students who will become the leaders of tomorrow, the faculty who inspire them, the researchers who are finding solutions to society's problems, and that of our community, which is continuously engaged by our many programs and activities. A gift today provides important and meaningful funds in perpetuity that help make the University known for its teaching, research and culture.

The University Foundation manages all endowment funds with available earnings transferred to the respective University account for the purpose of supporting the donor's passion, whether it be student scholarships, faculty research, unrestricted funds to meet the University's most pressing needs, or any of our other many programs. Gift use can be focused or wide-ranging.

The process for establishing an endowment is simple and requires only a completed agreement, along with a gift of at least $10,000. If you are interested in supporting any of these new endowments or creating one in memory or honor of another through outright gifts using almost any type of asset — cash, securities, real estate or other property that can be liquidated, please contact Keiko Weil '87, director of donor relations, at (775) 784-1587 or kweil@unr.edu.

Roxie Archie COBA Scholarship Endowment

Business students will benefit from this scholarship established by the Roxie Archie Unitrust. During her lifetime, Ms. Archie took a great interest in philanthropic activities, especially supporting students in their pursuits.

Roxie Archie Medicine Scholarship Endowment

Through her estate, Ms. Archie established this endowment to aid deserving University of Nevada, Reno students pursuing careers in medicine.

Arthur and Vlasta Atkins Scholarship Endowment

Awards from this fund, established by the late Arthur Atkins '40 (mining engineering) through the Atkins Family Trust, will benefit students at the Mackay School of Earth Sciences and Engineering.

M. Bashir and Julie C. Sulahria Scholarship Endowment

M. Bashir '69 (renewable natural resources), '72 Ph.D. (hydrology/hydrogeology) and Julie C. Sulahria '72 M.S. (home economics) have established this fund to support first-generation students pursuing a degree in the area of agriculture production or water resources.

Lowell C. and Frances W. Bernard Scholarship Endowment

Frances W. Bernard has chosen to honor her late husband, Lowell C. Bernard '48 (business administration), by establishing a scholarship for students pursuing studies in the profession he loved, accounting.

Barbara and Bill Bliss Scholarship Endowment in Journalism

Students in the Reynolds School of Journalism will benefit from this fund established by William W. Bliss. Students from Nevada high schools are eligible for this scholarship which will help to create the next generation of journalists.

Edmund J. Cain Scholarship Endowment

Established by Virginia Cain and family to honor her late husband, Edmund J. Cain, who served as dean of the College of Education from 1964-84.

Edwin L. & Kathryn L. Cantlon Memorial Scholarship

Dr. Edwin Cantlon '32 (zoology) served as president of the student body at the University during his senior year. After receiving his medical degree and serving in the Army, he and his wife, Kathryn, settled in Reno. During their lifetimes they were both dedicated to many community projects and in their estate have established this fund to help alleviate the financial hardships of students as they prepare for their careers in medicine.

Louis J. & Genevieve G. Capurro Family Foundation Scholarship

As part of a long-time northern Nevadan family of ranchers, the Capurro family has chosen to support students in the College of Agriculture, Biotechnology and Natural Resources who have taken on active roles in agriculture related issues in the Great Basin.

Ann M. Carlson Scholarship Endowment

Students participating in their student teaching semester will benefit from this endowment, generously established by Ms. Carlson '59 (Business). Preference will be given to students teaching in at-risk schools in the Truckee Meadows.

Betty Jean Crowley Memorial Endowment for Piano Students

The Marie Crowley Foundation established this fund in Betty's memory to help music students at the University of Nevada, Reno develop their own joy of expression through piano.

New Foundation Endowments

Jean Mary Clawson Scholarship Endowment

This scholarship was established by the estate of Ms. Clawson '47 (zoology), a former nurse, who saw the importance of supporting future health professionals in their education.

Robert C. Davey Scholarship Endowment

A planned gift from Robert Davey's estate will support scholarships for engineering students in perpetuity. A veteran of WWII, Mr. Davey '37 (electrical engineering) retired as a senior engineer in 1977.

Howdy Davis Memorial Scholarship Endowment

This scholarship was established in memory of engineer and avid sportsman Howdy Davis '90 (electrical engineering), by friends and family. This fund will support students studying education or engineering.

Marilyn P. & William G. Flangas Scholarship Endowment

In appreciation of the "best education that anyone could ever hope for," William Flangas '51 (metallurgical engineering) and his wife, Marilyn, established this fund to support students pursuing a degree in mining engineering.

Toby Ann Handelman Scholarship Endowment in Medicine

When Toby Ann Handelman passed away from a rare blood disorder, her parents, Harold and Hazel, determined that a fitting and constructive memorial to her would be to endow a scholarship for students who are studying blood or blood-clotting disorders at the School of Medicine.

Ralph E. and Rose A. Hoyer Equipment Endowment in Electrical Engineering

Ralph E. and Rose A. Hoyer Faculty Award for Excellence in Teaching and Advisement

Ralph E. and Rose A. Hoyer Scholarship Endowment in Electrical Engineering

Ralph Hoyer '51 (electrical engineering), and his wife, Rose, built Foresthill Telephone from a few rural lines in northern California into a modern communications company during 40 years of work. These three funds were established by Rose Hoyer to honor her late husband. The Equipment Endowment in Electrical Engineering will provide funds to purchase equipment so that students and faculty will be able to conduct cutting-edge research to benefit society. • The Hoyer Faculty Award for Excellence in Teaching and Advisement will provide annual funds to award College of Engineering faculty members who exhibit excellence in classroom teaching and student advisement. • Finally, the Hoyer Scholarship Endowment in Electrical Engineering will aid students in electrical engineering in their academic endeavors.

Claudia W. Hoffer & Arthur H. Williams Scholarship Endowment

During her undergraduate days at Nevada, Claudia Hoffer '61 (education) was a single mother of two children. She and her son, Arthur Williams '66 (zoology), have established this fund to award scholarships to single mothers pursuing higher education.

Dr. Stephen W. Hall Memorial Scholarship Endowment

To honor Dr. Hall, who was chief of oncology/hematology at the University of Nevada School of Medicine, his friends, family and colleagues have established this fund to support medical students who desire a career focusing on cancer.

Durward A. Huckabay, M.D., Fellowship Endowment

Dr. Durward Huckabay had a distinguished career in the field of medicine, but it was no easy road in the beginning. To honor him and his dedication, his son "Huck" Durward and Susan Huckabay have established this fund to help alleviate the financial hardships of students as they prepare for their careers in medicine.

Alice Kellames Memorial Scholarship Endowment

This memorial was established by friends and family to honor Alice Kellames, who was the assistant to the dean of at the Mackay School of Mines for more than 36 years. This scholarship will benefit students in the School to which she devoted more than half of her life.

John M. and Geraldine M. Lilley Endowed Presidential Scholarship Endowment

The many friends and colleagues of former University President Lilley, and his wife, Gerrie, established this fund in honor of their leadership and legacy at the University.

Thomas Lugaski Endowment Award

This endowment was created by friends and family in memory of Thomas P. Lugaski '71 (biology), '76 (M.S. biology), '80 (P.h.D. biology), '86 (M.S. geology), who loved biology and history. This endowment will fund travel expenses for the winners of the Western Nevada Regional Science and Engineering Fair to attend the International Science and Engineering Fair.

New Foundation Endowments

Jessie Patricia McCarthy Comstock Scholarship Endowment

An estate gift from Jessie Patricia McCarthy established this scholarship for students from the Virginia City/Comstock area, where McCarthy was born. She did not attend the University but cherished the University and her family's involvement with the campus. When fully funded, it will provide full-tuition scholarships for 13 students.

Victoria L. McIver Scholarship Endowment

This endowment was generously created with a planned gift from the estate of Victoria McIver. Earnings from this fund will provide assistance to students in the College of Business Administration.

Myles Family Scholarship Endowment in Nursing

Seeing a need to attract students to meet the current shortage of graduate nurses in hospitals, Dr. Robert Myles and his wife, Jean, created this fund to provide scholarships for students who intend to pursue a career in nursing.

Irving Jesse Sandorf Electrical Engineering Scholarship

Established by John Sandorf (Irving Sandorf's son) '53 (business administration) and his wife, Mona '52 (elementary education), to support students while recognizing the devotion of Professor Irving Jesse Sandorf, a long-time faculty member in the College of Engineering.

Satre Endowment For Education Dean's Future Scholars

Established by Jennifer '80 (M.Ed.) and Phil Satre, this fund will provide scholarships and program expenses for the Dean's Future Scholars program in the College of Education. The major goal of this program is to recruit disadvantaged middle and high school students into teacher education.

Satre Family Education Scholarship Endowment

The Satre Family has been a longtime advocate for the College of Education. These funds will be held as part of the College of Education General Scholarship Endowment and will provide a valuable source for annual scholarships for students pursuing teaching careers.

George Shaw Scholarship Endowment

Shaw Engineering established this scholarship to honor its founder, George Shaw '59 (mechanical engineering,) who gave many engineering students and new graduates their first internships or jobs in the local engineering community. This scholarship is open to students who are majoring in civil and environmental engineering.

Hyung K. Shin Award for Excellence in Research

This award has been established by a generous gift from Dr. Yoo Hang Kim '72 (chemistry) and Dr. Chin Myung Whang '76 (chemistry). It is their intention to honor longtime professor Hyung K. Shin '59 (chemistry), '61 (physical chemistry).

Sierra Schools Credit Union Office of Field Experiences

Sierra Schools Credit Union has been part of northern Nevada since 1951. The company establishes this fund to meet the needs of the college to provide faculty with funding for travel, scholarships and research.

R.J. Simcoe Memorial Scholarship Endowment

The family and friends of R.J. established this scholarship to support students pursuing their educational dreams through the University Studies Abroad Consortium (USAC). R.J. was a Nevada student studying in the USAC program in San Sebastian, Spain, at the time of his death.

George and Mary Tweedy Scholarship Endowment

Dr. George Tweedy '42 (mining engineering) cherished the education he received at the University of Nevada, Reno so much so that he and his wife, Mary, established this scholarship to support a student at the medical school during the student's 4-year tenure at the University.

Laura Nelson Watkins Nursing Scholarship Endowment

This scholarship was established through the Laura Nelson Watkins Trust to fulfill her wishes of contributing to the education of future nurses throughout Nevada and the nation.

Jim Wilson University of Nevada, Reno Football Scholarship Endowment

James Wilson '50 (physical education) played Nevada football from 1947 to 1949, including the 1947 and 1948 bowl games, and remained a lifelong supporter of the Wolf Pack. When he passed, he left funds to establish this scholarship.

Elmer A. Winter Endowment in Economic Geology

Jill Winter aims to foster expertise and love of geology in students, in the hope that they will establish careers in economic geology in the same way her late husband, Elmer, did.

Established Foundation Endowments

An endowment fund is a special way to create a lasting gift to the University of Nevada, Reno Foundation. Although the gift is made today, it continues to generate additional funds in perpetuity because the original gift is never spent.

Instead, the gift is invested and only the earnings may be used for the donor's designated wishes.

HOW CAN I START AN ENDOWMENT FUND?

All that is needed to create an endowment gift is $10,000 and a signed agreement form.

The donor may name the endowment and specify the use of its income. Current endowments span a range of purposes, including scholarships, academic programs and student or faculty research support. The income from an endowment is used to meet a variety of needs at the University. Each year new endowments become fully funded, and this year was no exception. We are indeed grateful to all alumni, friends and organizations who established all our new endowments.

Honor Court

Honor Court

Constructed in 1997, solely through private donations, the Honor Court celebrates campus and community leaders in a beautiful park-like setting adjacent to the Quad. Inspiring and impressive, the obelisk and surrounding pillars, made of 200,000 pounds of white granite mined from the Sierra Nevadas, are inscribed to honor those major donors and award-winning faculty, students, employees and community members who together make our University succeed. The gazebo's Victorian design blends naturally with the surrounding rose garden and benches, making the Honor Court a perfect spot for quiet reflection.

Hyung K. Shin

Honoring a Mentor

THE HYUNG K. SHIN AWARD
FOR EXCELLENCE IN RESEARCH

The distance from Incheon, Republic of Korea, to Reno is more than 5,700 miles. The two places are far apart geographically, but the invisible connection is education.

Hyung K. Shin is one of the most distinguished teachers and researchers the University of Nevada, Reno has known. The author of more than 180 scientific journal articles also twice received the Alan Bible Excellence in Teaching Award from the College of Arts and Science.

Nearly 40 years ago Dr. Shin advised Yoo Hang Kim, a Ph.D. candidate in chemistry who went on to receive his doctorate in 1972. Around that time Chin Myung Wang, another graduate student in chemistry, began studying at the University and received her Ph.D. in 1976. Working in the same department they naturally got to know each other, and shortly after Whang finished her graduate work they moved to Korea and were married.

Professors Kim and Whang both went on to successful academic careers of their own, and are now professors at Inha University, Incheon. Despite their distance from Nevada, they never forgot the tremendous positive influence that Dr. Shin had on their careers.

Last year they took tangible steps to honor Dr. Shin and the great impact he has had in his field and on so many students. By funding the Hyung K. Shin Award for Excellence in Research, professors Kim and Whang hope to encourage and reward more exceptional research of the kind Professor Shin has undertaken. Faculty members of the College of Science at Nevada are eligible to receive the Shin Award.

After completing their academic work at Nevada some students depart, bound for almost every country in the world, but the personal connections between teachers, students and colleagues remain. Professors Kim and Whang have honored Dr. Shin and have contributed in an important way to inspiring further excellence at the University.

To learn more and support the work of the College of Science contact Director of Development Ted Wynn at (775) 784-4591, extension 3007, or twynn@unr.edu

The Mathewson-IGT Knowledge Center

Years of dreaming, planning, design and contribution came together this past March 20 when construction of the new Mathewson-IGT Knowledge Center began.

The Knowledge Center will provide dramatic new opportunities for the University community to learn, teach and research. It was made possible only through the vision and philanthropy of friends and supporters of the University of Nevada, Reno.

Most ambitious building project in the University's history

- More than $22 million in private support
- Will replace the 43-year-old Noble H. Getchell Library
- 295,000-square-foot building, equivalent to 20 Morrill Halls
- Principal contractor is Q&D Construction, Inc. of Sparks
- To be completed in summer 2008

Follow the Knowledge Center construction progress by visiting our website:

FROM YOUR ALUMNI ASSOCIATION'S LEADERSHIP

Alumni membership connects you with Nevada

Dear Nevada Alumni,

The month of May was a special time of year on campus. For students graduating, it was a time to celebrate their hard work and accomplishments over the last several years. They are now ready to take the next step, wherever it may lead. For alumni, this was a chance to welcome new graduates into our family. We had the opportunity to let them know that just because they have graduated, this doesn't mean involvement with the University ends.

Carothers

The Nevada Alumni Association is the bridge between alumni and their alma mater. Many programs and services are offered through our organization to keep graduates connected and involved. Whether someone needs career counseling, wants to travel abroad, volunteer at events, or is looking for a social networking group, there is something for everyone.

We encourage you to stay connected to the University by getting involved with the Alumni Association today. For more information, please visit our website at www.unr.edu/alumni or call us at 888.NV.ALUMS.

Chapter Updates

Jason Geddes '90 (biochemistry), '95 Ph.D. (environmental chemistry) and Dr. Ron Pardini taste Nevada wines during the CABNR showcase in March.

CABNRet Pinot Meunier and Drought-Stressed Riesling are just two of the Nevada wines featured at the CABNR showcase in March.

Friends and Alumni of CABNR

Jason Geddes '90, '95
geddes@edawn.org

A new year and new events have brought together the friends and alumni of the College of Agriculture, Biotechnology and Natural Resources. In February, this alumni chapter had a night of Bagna Caulda at the Coney Island Bar and Grill in Reno. Twenty members enjoyed an evening of great food, great conversation and enough garlic to ward off all of cold and flu season.

The Friends and Alumni held a showcase of the college in early March to highlight the college's diverse academic programs and research. More than 70 participants were treated to presentations from the college's five departments: nutrition, natural resources and environmental science, biochemistry and molecular biology, animal biotechnology and resource economics. Wolf Pack Meats, the college's student-oriented research and educational facility, catered the event with mouth-watering flat-iron steaks, and Professor of Biochemistry Grant Cramer showed off his Nevada Wines. The 13 varieties of red and white wines, made at the University's Valley Road Vineyard and Winery, were a treat for the palate, and the economic and agricultural implications were a treat for the mind.

COBAAA

Russ Gardner '90
rgardner@nevadacpa.org

COBAAA has begun its 20th year with ambitious goals. We are pleased to be working with the College of Business to help with the remodel of the Ansari Business Building's Student Lounge. COBAAA committed $50,000 to help with remodel expenses. One of several ways COBAAA raised its share of the funding for the remodel was with its 15th Annual COBAAA Golf Tournament, held May 4 at Lakeridge

The remodel is scheduled to begin in June 2006 with completion by October 1, 2006. If you or your business would like information on how you can partner with the college to help fund this remodeling, please contact Jane Bessette, director of career services and alumni relations for COBA, at (775) 784-4912, extension 408.

Native American Chapter

Sherry Rupert '05
srupert@govmail.state.nv.us

The Native American Alumni Chapter has reunited! The chapter has already started to sponsor a variety of Native American events and students.

On April 16, the chapter sponsored its second University of Nevada, Reno Powwow at the Jot Travis Student Union. It was a huge success with 400 to 500 people in attendance.

The chapter also sponsored Michelle McCauley '04 (general studies), who competed for Miss Indian World at the Gathering of Nations Powwow in Albuquerque, New Mexico, on April 26. McCauley is a member of the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe.

On May 10, the chapter hosted a reception for Native American graduates. If you are a 2007 Native American graduate and would like to attend next year's reception, please contact Sherry Rupert.

The Native American Alumni Chapter helps provide scholarships, coordinates native events and sponsors local native talent. For more information, or to become more involved in the chapter, visit <http://www.unr.edu/alumni/chapters.aspx>.

Orvis School of Nursing

Linda Clift '74
clift-reno@sbcglobal.net

The Orvis School of Nursing is pleased to announce that its newly formed alumni association was approved in January by the Alumni Council. Alumni who worked hard to make this happen include: Linda Clift, Jan Brady, Kathie Baldrige, Cookie Bible, Sharla Scott, Donna Kistler, Cathy Butler, Mary Ann Lambert, Michelle Kling, Michele Pelter and Wende Latham.

Orvis alumni held an evening of Wine and Cheese on May 4 at Vino 100. The event was a wonderful opportunity to bring Orvis alumni together to get reacquainted and have fun while sipping fabulous wine and enjoying great conversation. If you missed the event, it's not too late to become a part of the Orvis Alumni Association. All alumni are encouraged to join! We need your help with developing the organization! For more information, please call Wende Latham at (775) 328-2478 or Linda Clift at (775) 787-8999.

On the horizon, the chapter plans to join forces with Bay Area alumni for wine tasting in Napa Valley. Plus, we hope to return to Single Leaf Vineyards in the fall for lunch and some tasting with the owners, Pam and Scott Miller. Pam has a degree from Nevada ('90, public administration and policy). Scott went to that other school, in Las Vegas.

University Club

Larry Kirk '94
 landvk2@sbcglobal.net

The University Club has a year-round schedule of events. The next event on our calendar is the annual July picnic. This event started many years ago as a part of the University's Pack Picnic on the Quad program but for the last several years has been held off campus. This year's July summer party picnic will be held at Dave Reynolds' residence in southwest Reno on July 12. We are also inviting members of the Young Alumni Chapter to join us for an evening of good food, entertainment and lots of socializing. The University club consists of interested University faculty and staff members, both active and retired, along with a large number of people who are identified as friends of the University. We would welcome anyone interested in joining. To learn more, call Kristin Burgarello at the Nevada Alumni Association, (775) 784-6620.

USAC Alumni Club

Marika Dimitriadis
 marika@unr.edu

The University Study Abroad Consortium (USAC) Alumni Club has been busy! Several USAC Alumni Club members helped with International Study Abroad Night and Study Abroad Open House, both of which served to raise awareness about study-abroad opportunities. Many alumni also volunteered to lead discussion groups at the USAC orientation for summer and fall 2006 students. In March, we dined at India Garden and discussed the consortium's exciting new program in Bangalore, India. We raised money for the USAC office's Relay for Life team and participated in the Relay for Life in April. Most recently, USAC members headed to San Francisco for a Giants game.

On June 8, we will kick off our summer with an alumni

Mark your calendars! The Washington D.C. Chapter is planning the annual Baseball Gathering for Saturday, September 16. A tailgate party will be held prior to watching the Washington Nationals vs. the Milwaukee Brewers. Watch for details in August.

To learn more about the upcoming events or to get involved with the D.C. Chapter, contact Ronda. See you soon!

WolfPackChat.com

Brad Platt '00
bplatt@ampresources.com

WolfPackChat.com is the fastest-growing online community of Wolf Pack fans and supporters. Alumni and fans use the service as a means to keep up on University events while interacting with classmates and fellow Pack fans. We have alumni located across the country and are gathering new people on a daily basis. More than 525 members are registered with the service. We expect to hit 1,000 by the end of the year.

Last November, we held our first annual Chili Cookoff before the Nevada-Hawaii game at Mackay Stadium. We gave away more than 550 tickets to the game and had more than 250 people attend the tailgater. The second Chili Cookoff is scheduled for November 11 at the Nevada-Utah State football game. We are also planning a bus trip to Fresno for the season football opener against the Bulldogs. Details will soon be available at www.wolfpackchat.com. Come join us. Once you visit, you'll never leave!

Young Alumni Chapter

Ro Lazzarone '03
rjlazzarone@ft.newyorklife.com

The Young Alumni Chapter has a membership of approximately 55 graduates, all of whom have graduated within the last 10 years. Membership benefits include a $5 discount on monthly social events. For membership information, please visit www.unr.edu/alumni/chapters.aspx, then Young Alumni. Annual dues are just $5.

In March, the chapter held a wine tasting at Viaggio. Twenty-five members and guests attended to sample a wide variety of wines and appetizers.

The chapter held its annual Beer Fest fundraiser on April 14 at the Eldorado Hotel and Casino. This year's event had a record attendance of more than 900 people and raised more than $14,500 for scholarships. The chapter thanks the sponsors: Eldorado Hotel Casino, Brew Brothers, Silver Peak, Great Basin, New West Distributing, Southern Wine & Spirits, Luce & Sons, and Scruples Bar & Grill.

This summer the chapter is looking forward to attending the University Club's annual picnic on July 12. Don't forget to visit our website to find out about other upcoming events.

Nevada Gaming Control Board
Corporate Securities Division

The Corporate Securities Division regulates the publicly traded gaming companies in Nevada. It investigates them for suitability and financial viability, and then continuously monitors their activities after they are licensed. Most of the large casinos in Nevada are owned by public companies, so the division has a very important roll in gambling regulation. It also enjoys a reputation worldwide as one of the best regulatory agencies of its type. Thirteen of the 18 people in the division attended the University of Nevada and 11 graduated.

Remembering Friends

Glenn Southard Franklin '53 (mining engineering) died March 10, 2006, at the age of 87. Franklin served in World War II, first working at a mine in Holden on Lake Chelan, Wash. and later in the Philippines. He received many medals for his service, including the Philippine Liberation Medal, Good Conduct Medal, World War II Victory Medal, Asiatic Pacific Campaign Medal, American Campaign Medal and American Defense Medal. Following graduation from the University of Nevada, Reno, Franklin worked in the mining industry in Cobalt, Idaho; Jeffrey City, Wyoming; and Landusky, Montana. His most recent assignment was as Mine Superintendent for the Continental Uranium Company in Jeffrey City (1965-1971). He is survived by his wife, Lotte K. Franklin, son, Clyde Southard Franklin, daughter, Delone Southard Moore, grandsons, Caleb Jeffrey Moore and Olaf Southard Moore, granddaughter, Hannah May Moore, and sister, Delone Wayson. Memorial services were held at Salmon Valley Baptist Church in Salmon, Idaho on March 16, 2006.

Chris Exline, a beloved geography professor in the College of Science and, for many at the University one of the most familiar faces on campus, died April 11 at his Sparks home. He was 58.

The Board of Regents in 2000 recognized Exline, a University geography professor since 1981, as the campus' top undergraduate adviser.

Exline made many friends throughout the University and in the community. Nevada head football coach Chris Ault, who worked with Exline for the past 20 years, said the professor's personal touch resonated with the campus' students, faculty and staff.

"We have all lost a person who touched the lives of so many," Ault said. "Chris Exline represented everything that is good about the University of Nevada. He was the most dedicated teacher and professor I have ever known."

When not associated with the campus growing geography department, a unit he chaired from his arrival at the University to 1997, Exline was best known as the Nevada athletics department's faculty representative to the NCAA. In that role, Exline worked directly with the University president on numerous projects, including writing position papers for the Board of Regents. He was also a member of the NCAA's Academics, Eligibility and Compliance Cabinet.

"He loved the Wolf Pack, and in many ways he played a significant role in the growth of intercollegiate athletics on this campus," Ault said. "He was a great friend who I and my wife, Kathy, will miss deeply."

University interim president Joe Crowley worked directly with Exline from 1981 until Crowley's retirement as president in 2001. Four years after Exline was hired, he was elected Faculty Senate chair.

"That gives you an indication of how popular he was," said Crowley, who served as president for 23 years.

When Exline was named faculty athletics representative in 1986, the pair's working relationship broadened.

"I know how much respect he commanded from his colleagues in all the conferences with which we were affiliated — first with the Big Sky, then the Big West, and finally, the Western Athletic Conference," Crowley said.

Exline is survived by his wife, Diana; children Matthew, Nathan, Alyssa and Nicholas; and two grandchildren, Sophia and Henry.

The Christopher Exline Geography Scholarship has been established in his memory. Gifts can be sent to the University of Nevada Reno Foundation, Christopher Exline Geography Scholarship, MS/162, Reno, NV 89557, or call Ted Wynn at (775) 784-1587 or twynn@unr.edu.

CHALLENGE

The New Science and Math Education Center

COMPETITION IS A FACT OF LIFE.

In the academic world, students compete for places at the best universities, and in turn, universities compete for the best and brightest students.

Institutions compete to hire the best researchers and teachers, and outstanding professors and researchers compete for the pool of available funds to further their life's work.

The University of Nevada, Reno has competed successfully in all of these areas. Enrollment has boomed, and many of the finest students from this state, and around the world, are making Nevada their choice for pursuing baccalaureate and advanced degrees. The University's standing as a research institution that does great teaching has never been higher.

IT IS A FACT OF LIFE THAT NOTHING STANDS STILL.

Nevada competes with other institutions, not just in the United States but around the world. The University is a tier-one Carnegie Foundation-designated doctoral/research extensive institution. The University, however, suffers from an extreme shortage of space and teaching facilities, especially classrooms and laboratories for the natural sciences. The current facilities are undersized and outmoded. The last structure built on campus for the natural sciences was opened in 1972, when the student population was 6,500. Today the University has more than 16,000 students and with projected growth to 30,000 students by 2020, the need for a state-of-the-art, modern science-based facility is critical.

THE SOLUTION

Shown on these pages is an architect's illustration of the Science and Math Education Center, to be built at the southeastern quadrant of campus, north of the Fleischmann Building.

The proposed 90,000-square-foot building will address many of the problems facing the University and will foster an energized environment for learning. The building, with an estimated price tag of $56 million, will house laboratories and classrooms and become a centralized location for the College of Science. It will provide a collaborative environment where students and faculty will work and learn together in a modern science-oriented setting. The building will anchor the campus' science and math corridor connecting Palmer Engineering, Scrugham Engineering & Mines, Laxalt Research, Leifson Physics, Fleischmann Science, and the chemistry building.

The Nevada State Legislature earmarked $32 million toward the construction of the Science and Math Education Center. This record allocation illustrates the facility's importance to the state. To release the state's allocation, private support of $18 million is needed, with an additional $6 million needed to build the 500-seat auditorium.

The first to believe in this dream are Bob and Jan Davidson. The couple, educational innovators and founders of the Davidson Institute for Talent Development, pledged an inspiring $15 million, a portion of which goes toward the construction of this "must have" facility. The Davidsons appreciate the urgent need for the facility in order to give the University a competitive edge in attracting top students and world-class faculty. The Science and Math Education Center, planned to open in the 2009-2010 academic year, is destined to be recognized nationwide as a university facility in step with the scientific and technological economy of the 21st century.

COMPETITION IS A FACT OF LIFE.

- The College of Science has approximately 1,000 undergraduate students and 400 graduate students and continues to grow.

- 13,000 of the 16,000 University of Nevada undergraduate students are enrolled in courses offered by College of Science departments each year.

- The College of Science offers over 40 different degree programs and options for undergraduate and graduate students. Many faculty and researchers are internationally recognized in their fields of chemical physics, seismology, Geodesy, atomic and plasma physics, hydrology, ecology, evolution & conservation biology.

- The College of Science received almost $24 million for research for the 2005 fiscal year.

- The College of Science has 191 outstanding faculty. They include:

- ▶ Joe Cline of the Chemistry department is a part of a team at the University of Nevada, Reno developing light-controlled molecular motors, which could be used to engineer and power nanoscale devices.

- ▶ Professor Tom Cowan at the Nevada Terawatt Facility is a world-renowned plasma physicist. His work is leading to new developments in fusion energy and radiation treatments for cancer.

- ▶ Wendy Calvin, Arthur Brant research associate professor of geophysics, was selected by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) as one of 28 new scientists to participate in the 2003 Mars Exploration Rover Mission.
