Letter from the Executive Director

Happy Artown!

As we rejoice at the start of summer and Artown's 28th Festival anniversary, I am delighted to welcome friends, old and new, to our celebration. During July 2023, join us at our many venues throughout the region; at pop ups, new locations and our favorite traditional spaces.

Artown exists at the intersection of community and the arts where nearly 500 multidisciplinary events will burst into July with something for everyone! Every weekday we engage children as they Discover the Arts. We celebrate spectacle with Circus Bella and rejoice in all things Jazz, ranging from guitarist John Pizzarelli to Cuban pianist, Omar Sosa. We are especially proud of recognizing cultures that exist here in the Truckee Meadows, as well as those we introduce through the arts.

Please take some time and peruse artown.org to find the events that are right for you, your friends and family. Bring a picnic or purchase culinary delights from our restaurant vendors on site. We offer free water at our events for everyone who has a water container, and you can purchase our signature sustainable Artown rainbow silicone cups as a way to support Artown in helping reduce single use plastics in the environment.

Our 15-year-old poster artist, Nusra Juma, a student at Hug High School, is the youngest poster artist in the history of Artown. I encourage you to take a minute and read her worthy artist statement in the little book or online.

Join us when we bring the world to Reno, as we honor the arts and applaud everyone who lives, works and plays in our Reno 'backyard'.

See you in the Park!

2023 Artown Poster Artist

Nusra Juma

Hello,

My name is Nusra Juma; I am 15 years old and I was born in the Democratic Republic of Congo. When I was a baby, my family and I moved from the DRC to the capital city of Burundi as urban refugees. Life in Burundi wasn't pleasant because, as refugees, the living cost was high, considering we were new to this country.

The refugee agency asked my family if they wanted a new life away from the city;

a life where they would provide food, shelter, and free education. Due to the condition of our lifestyle, my family decided to take the offer. So, we moved from Bujumbura the capital city of Burundi, to the refugee camp in Ruyigi where I started kindergarten and early primary school.

Life in the refugee camp still wasn't pleasant. We got food but not enough, and we got a place to sleep but were not comfortable. Despite all that, I kept focusing on my school, because it was the most important thing to me at that time.

My sisters went miles and miles looking for coals to cook our food and still went on with their studies. My parents didn't have any jobs so the refugee agency once again asked my dad if he would love to go to a place where he could work, make money and provide a better living for himself and his family. My dad talked to us as a family, and all of us thought it was the best idea. After three years of processing, in 2019 we landed in America.

My love for art started back when I was in third-grade primary school. With the limited resources in the refugee camp, I could only put my hands on normal paper and pencil. That was until I arrived in the U.S. in 2019 with my family. I have been here for more than three years. I also happen to be a self-made artist and the only painter in my family of nine individuals. I got introduced to painting when I joined the school here. I started using paint in 6th grade at Sparks Middle School when my art teacher discovered my love for art and my newfound motivation: paint. She taught me the basic steps on how to use acrylic colors after I told her that I have drawn before but didn't have any material except for a pencil and paper. My obsession with this new way of expressing myself and spending my creative time has gotten me very far over the couple of years that I have been in America.

My work is inspired by the natural world and the patterns and shapes found in the natural environments of my imagination. I am particularly drawn to the way light and shadow interact with organic forms. I seek to capture the beauty and complexity of these relationships in my art. I work primarily with mixed media, combining traditional drawing and painting techniques with natural tools to create layered, textured compositions. I am interested in exploring the tension between the organic and the synthetic, and often incorporate elements of art in my pieces. My goal as an artist is to create work that inspires contemplation and reflection and encourages viewers to connect with the natural world in a more meaningful way. I believe that art has the power to transform our relationship with the environment, and I hope that my work can contribute to greater awareness and appreciation of the beauty and fragility of the world around us.

My message to the world:

Your creation is a place for everything, and it is everything in its place. The world is hard, but you can choose to work through it and be happy or let it beat you down—the choice is yours. Just follow your heart and it will lead you to success.

— Nusra Juma 2023
